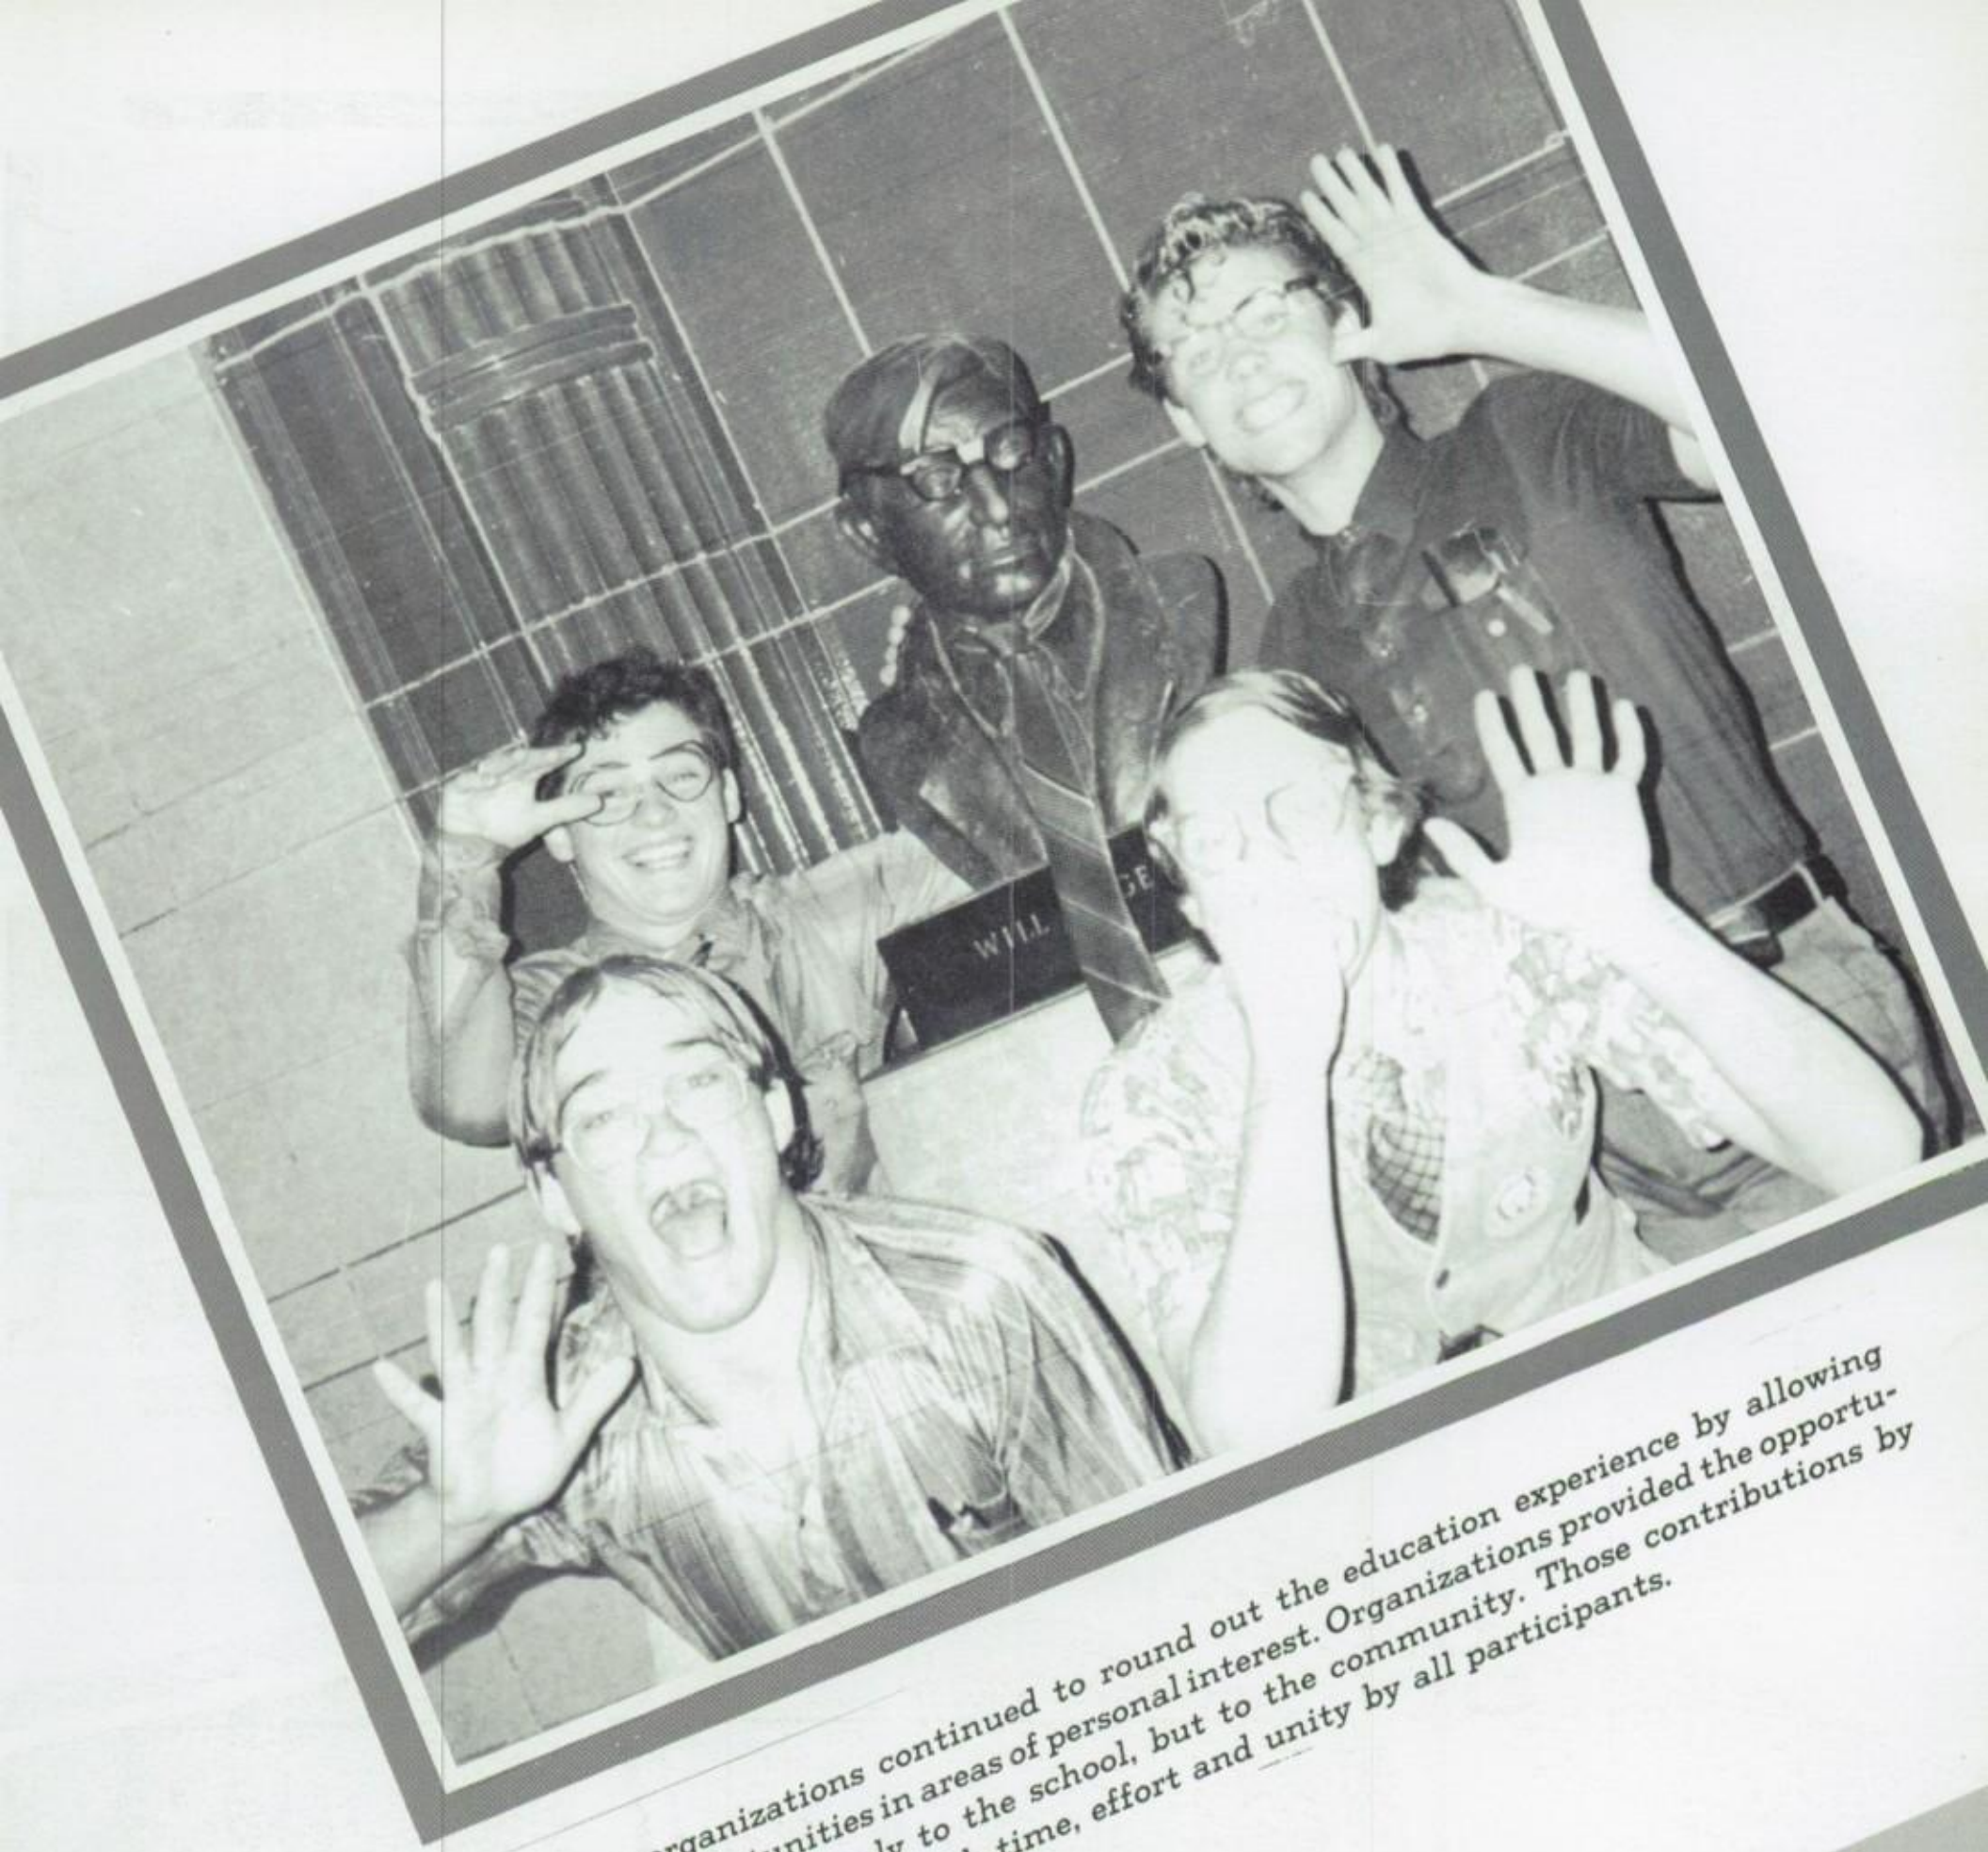
Organizations

Liven Up

Education



Student organizations continued to round out the education experience by allowing leadership opportunities in areas of personal interest. Organizations provided the opportunity for service, not only to the school, but to the community. Those contributions by organizations required much time, effort and unity by all participants.

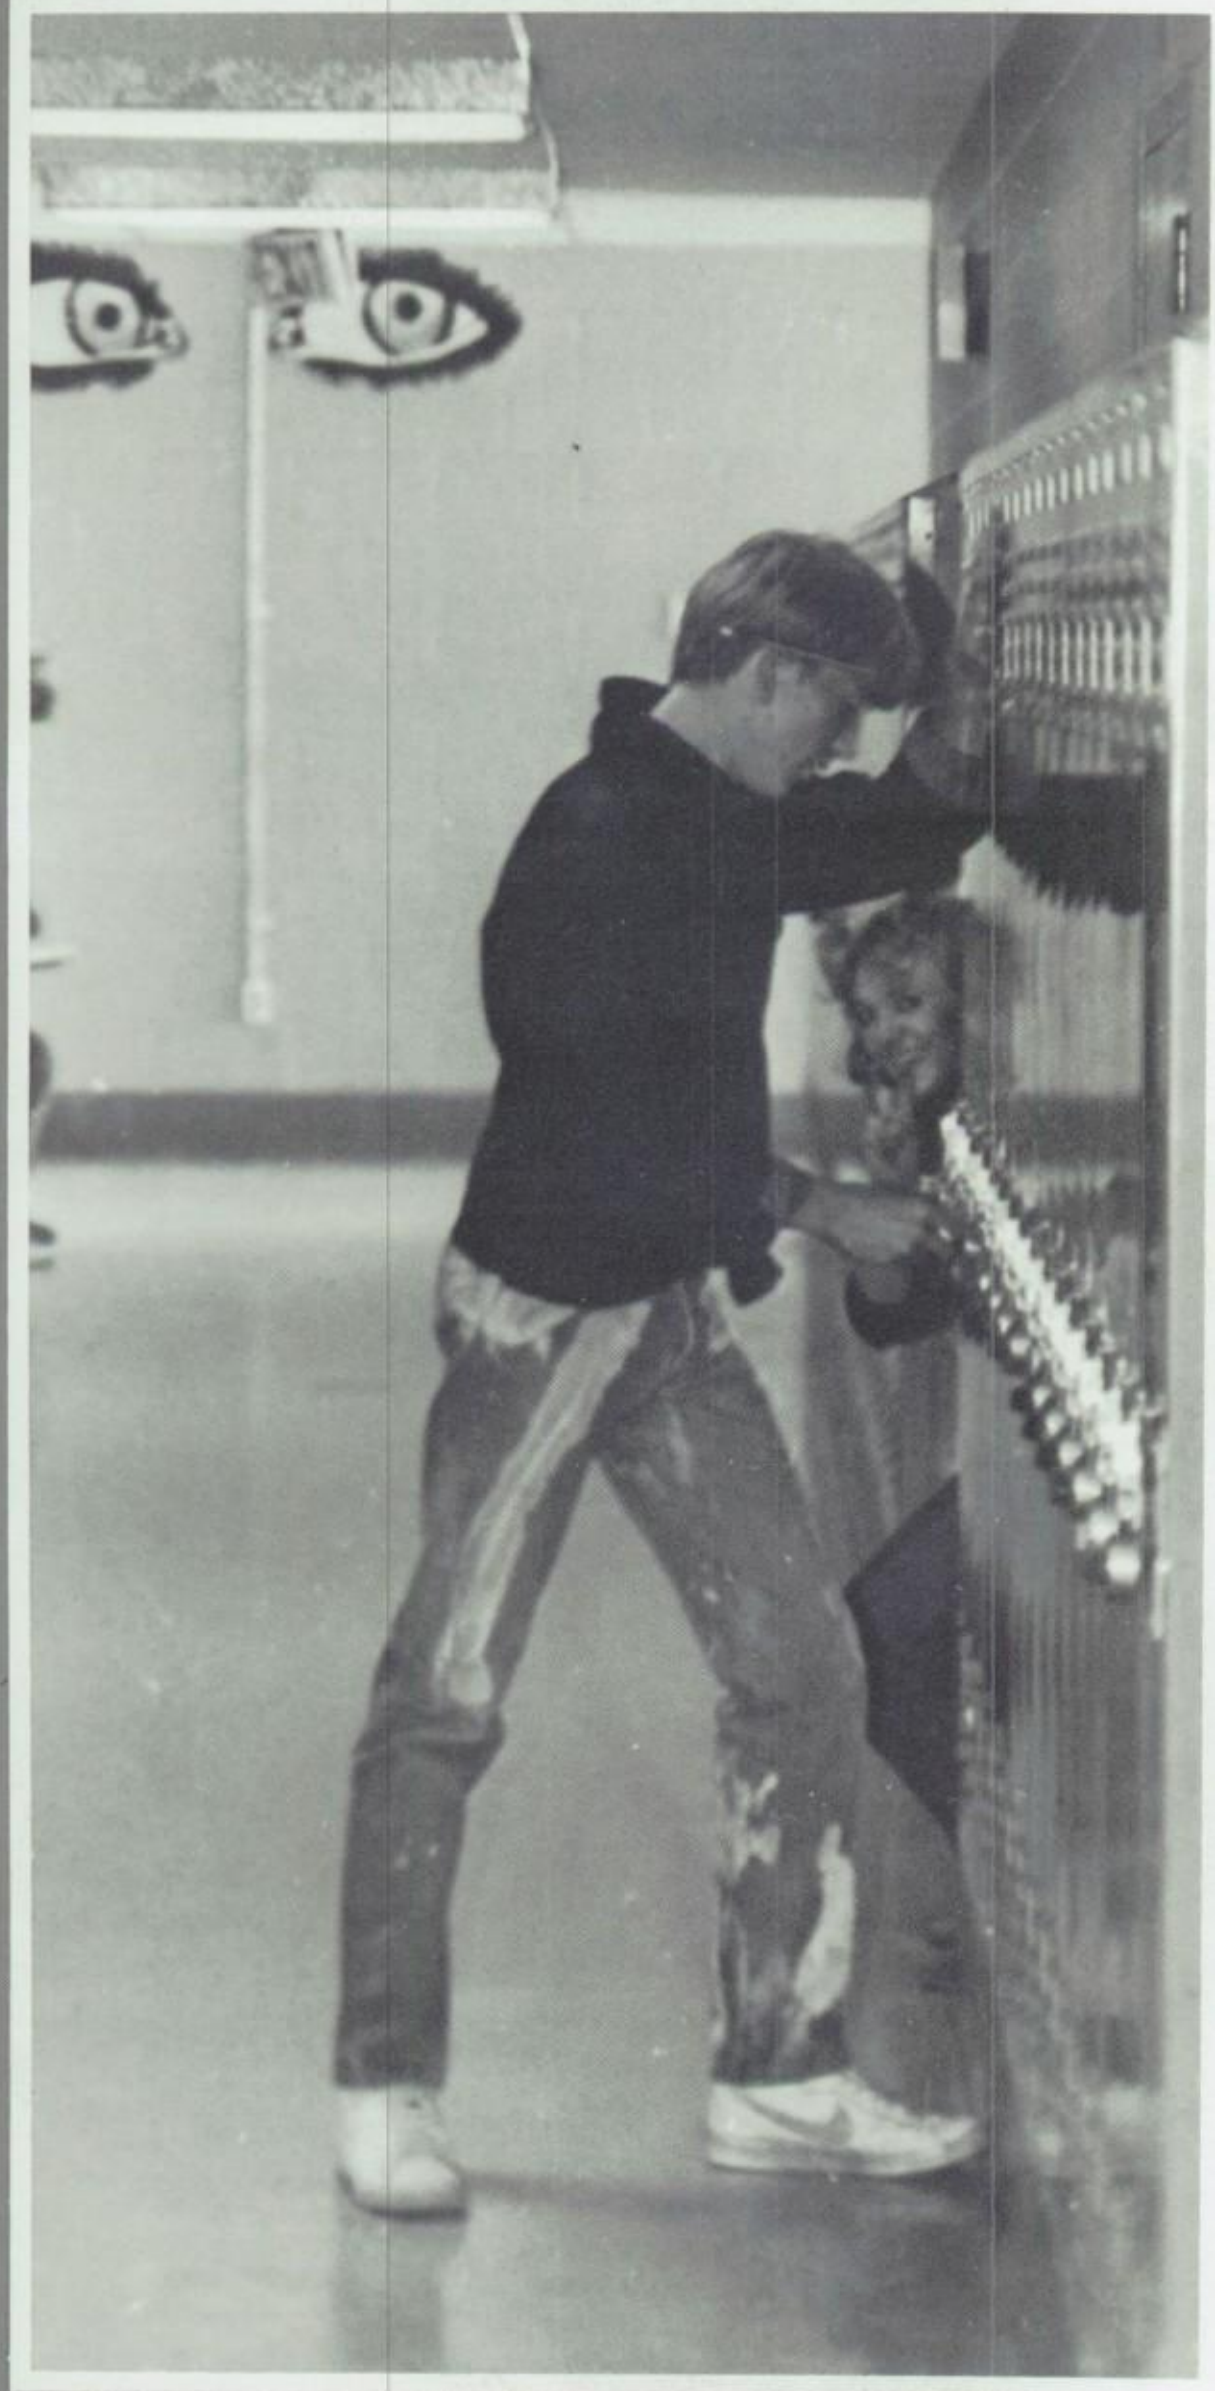
In a Class

By Themselves



The days of the community school have long passed in Tulsa Public Schools. Most urban schools draw from all communities and provide a mixture of all people that makes a school population that reflects a cross section of an entire city. The advantage was an increase in the awareness of different cultures and lifestyles. The challenge was learning to cooperate and peacefully co-exist.

High school academics has seemingly taken the backseat to extracurricular activities in the past decade. Several actions have been taken to improve upon the emphasis placed upon academics . . . the elimination of privilege passes, moving some sports to seventh hour, increasing the number of credits to graduate, students competing in an academic bowl and academic awards presented in assemblies at the end of each semester. Teachers have also been encouraged in ongoing professional improvement by a staff development system and stiffer requirements to enter into the education profession.

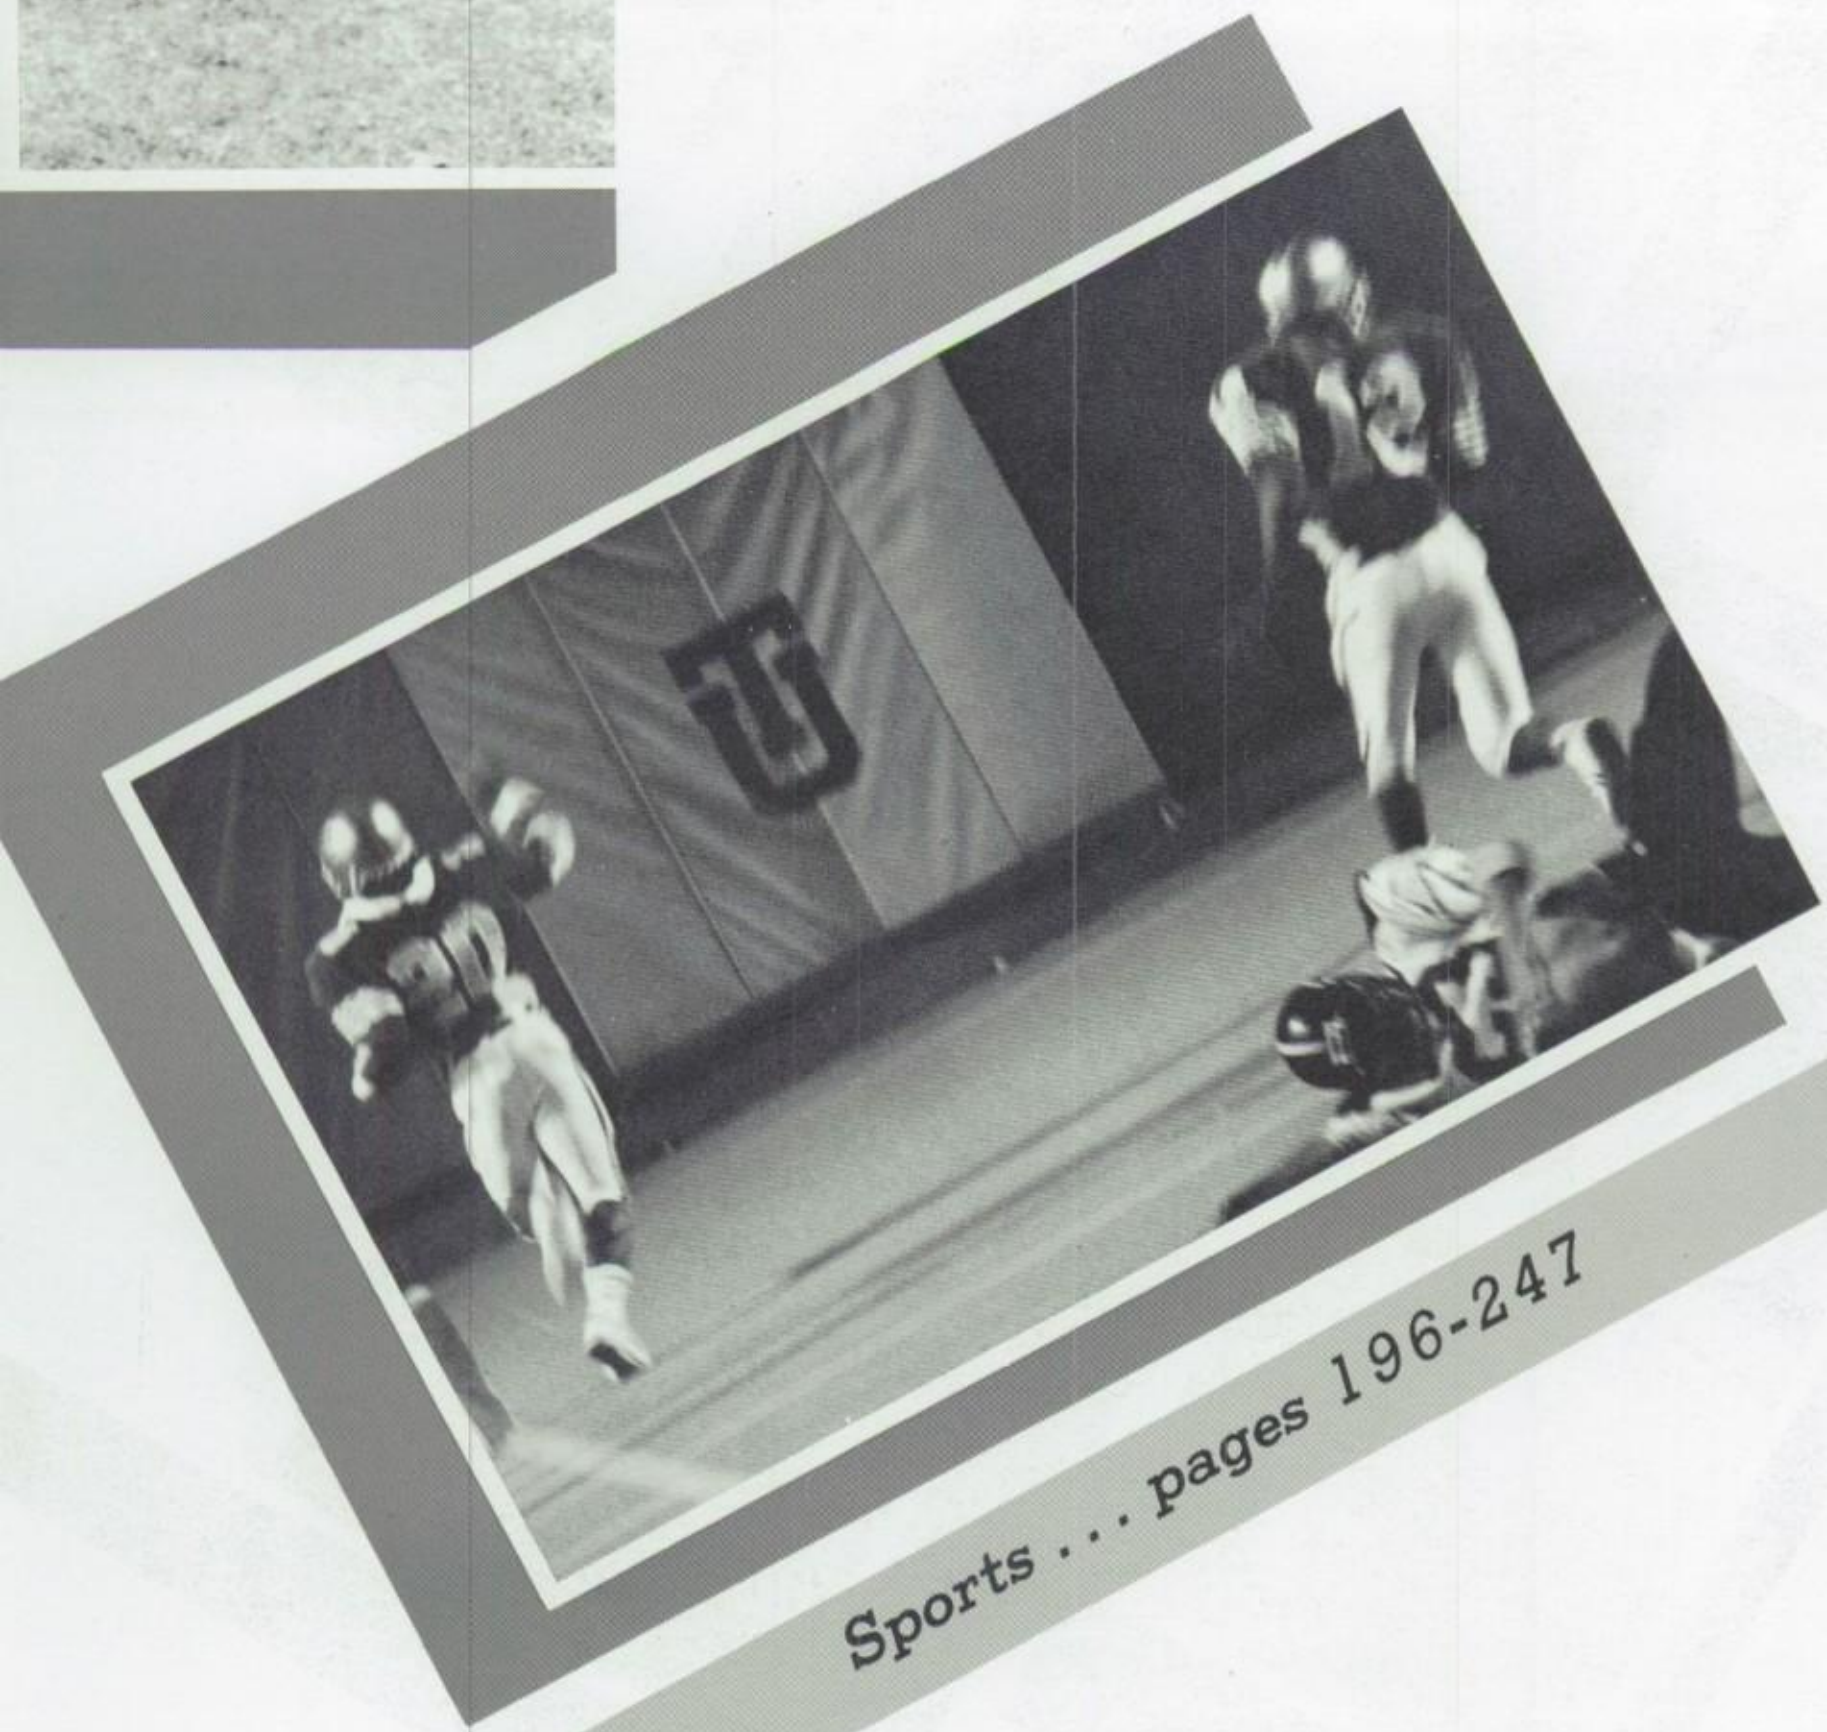
The athletic battlefields have been the pride of Rogers—no matter what the season wins and losses. The sweat and team effort won student support. The discipline required by each athletic endeavor continued to make each athlete a winner. The support of the students and staff continued to bring enthusiastic unity.



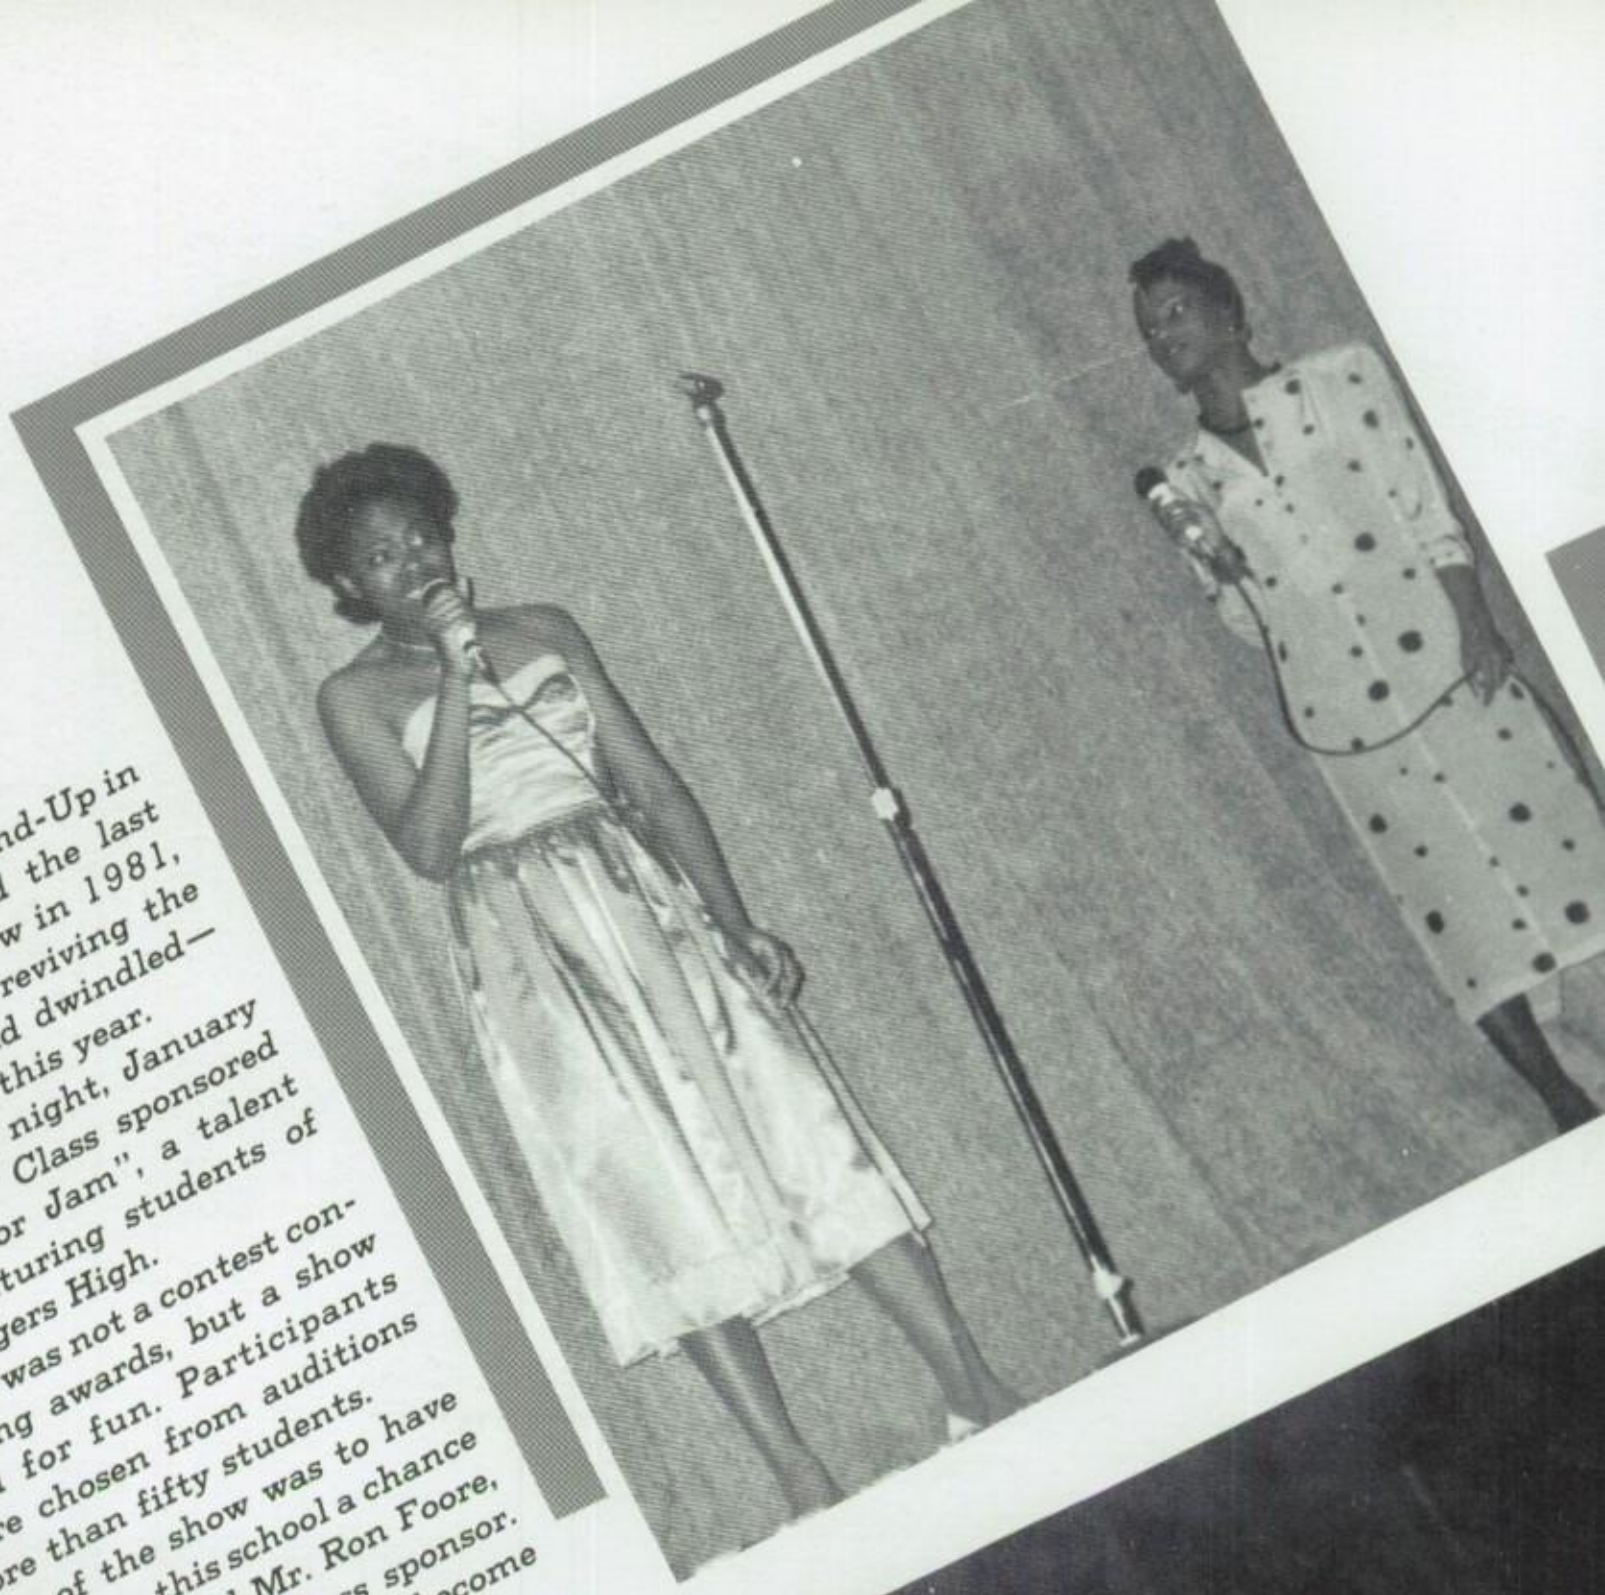
Sports . . . pages 196-247

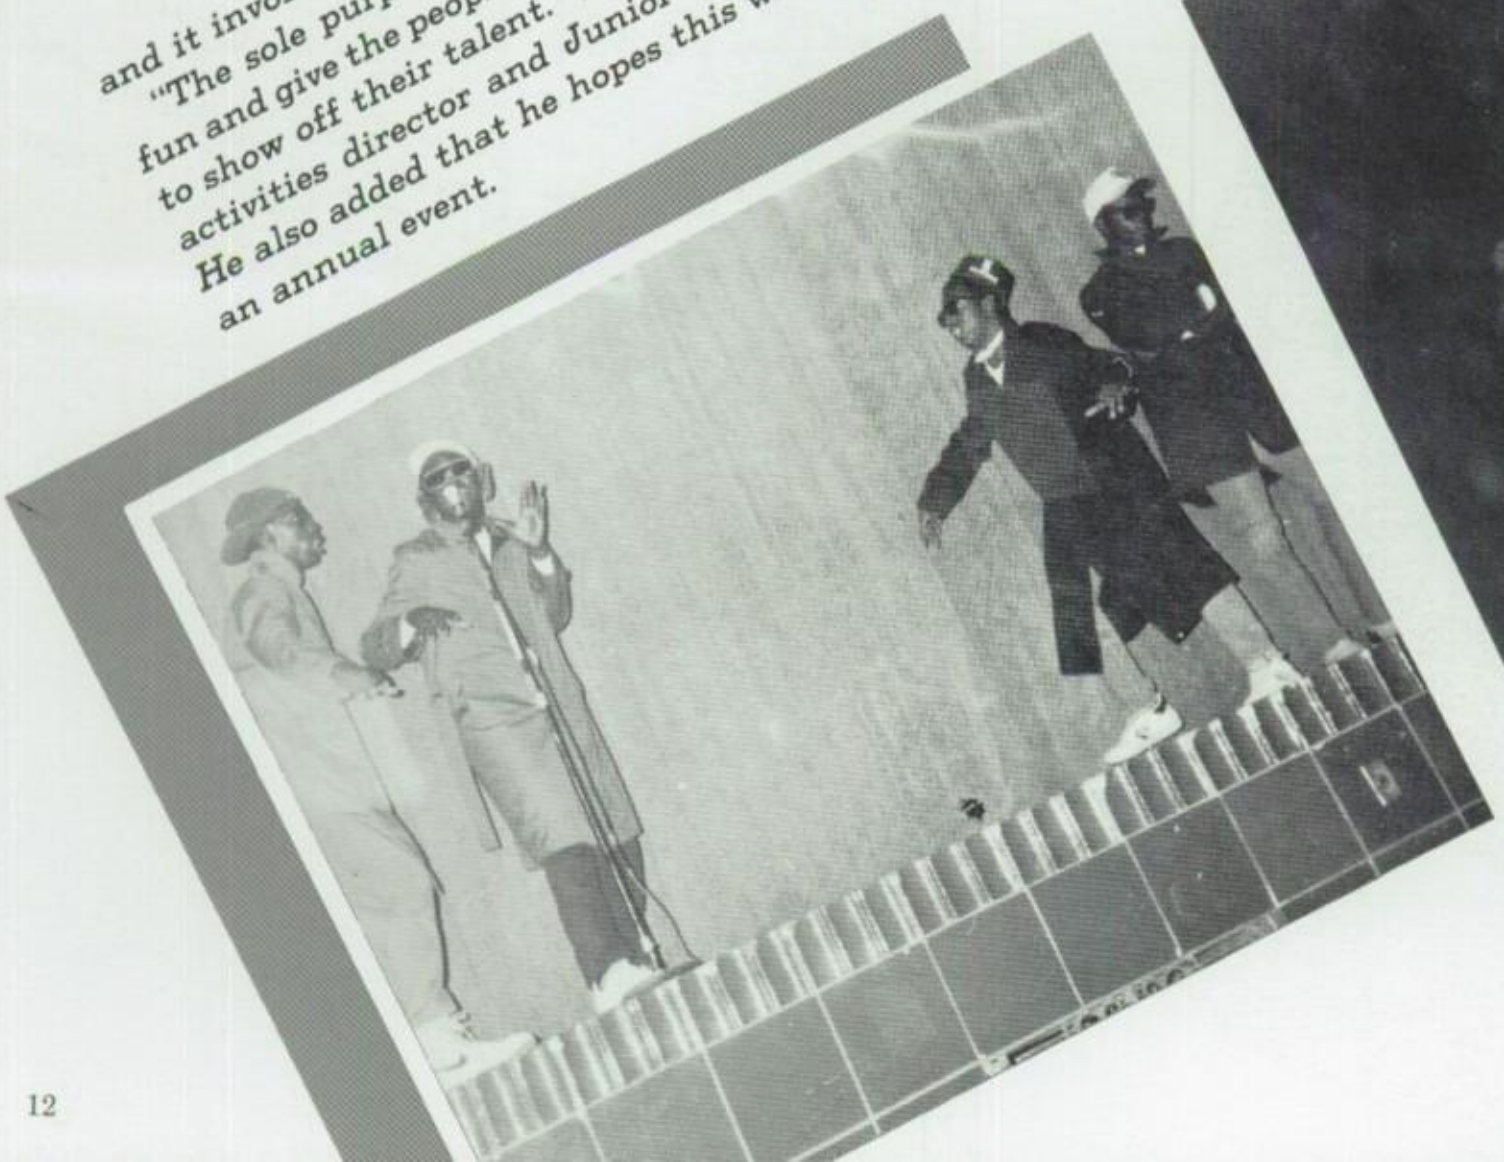
After the last Round-Up in the early 70's and the last Rogers talent show in 1981, enthusiasm for reviving the talent show had dwindled—at least until this year.

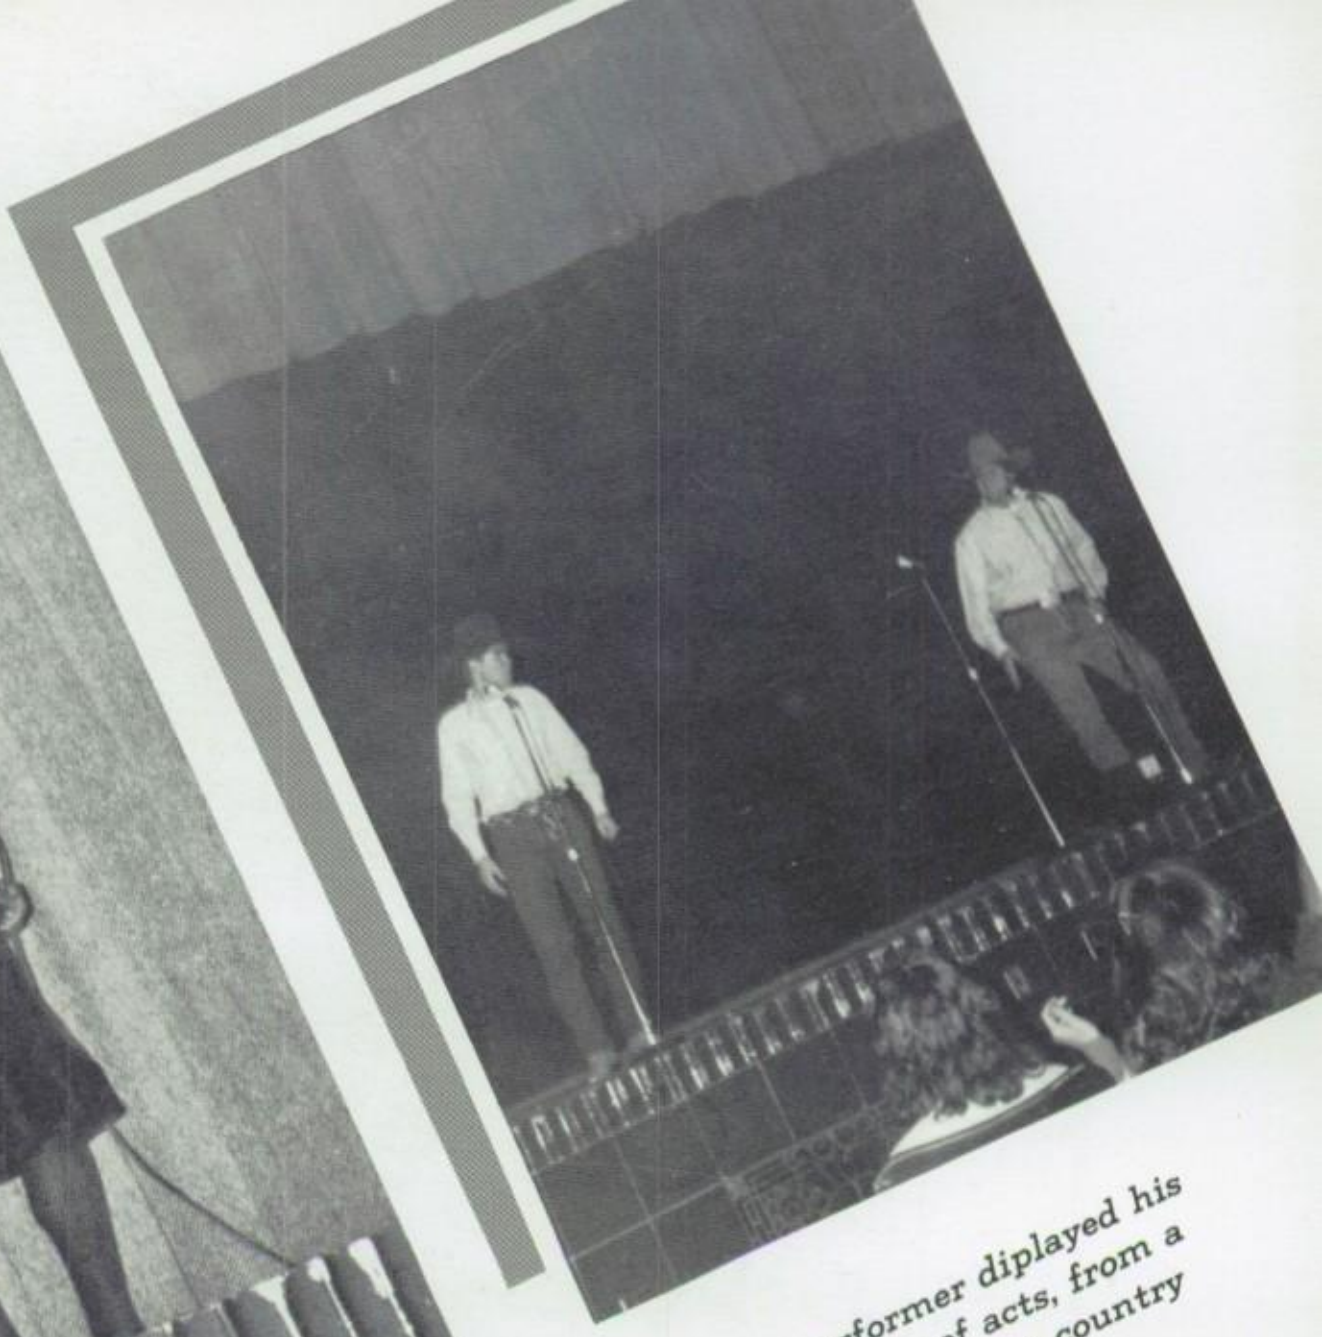
On Friday night, January 24, the Jr. Class sponsored the "Junior Jam", a talent show featuring students of Will Rogers High.

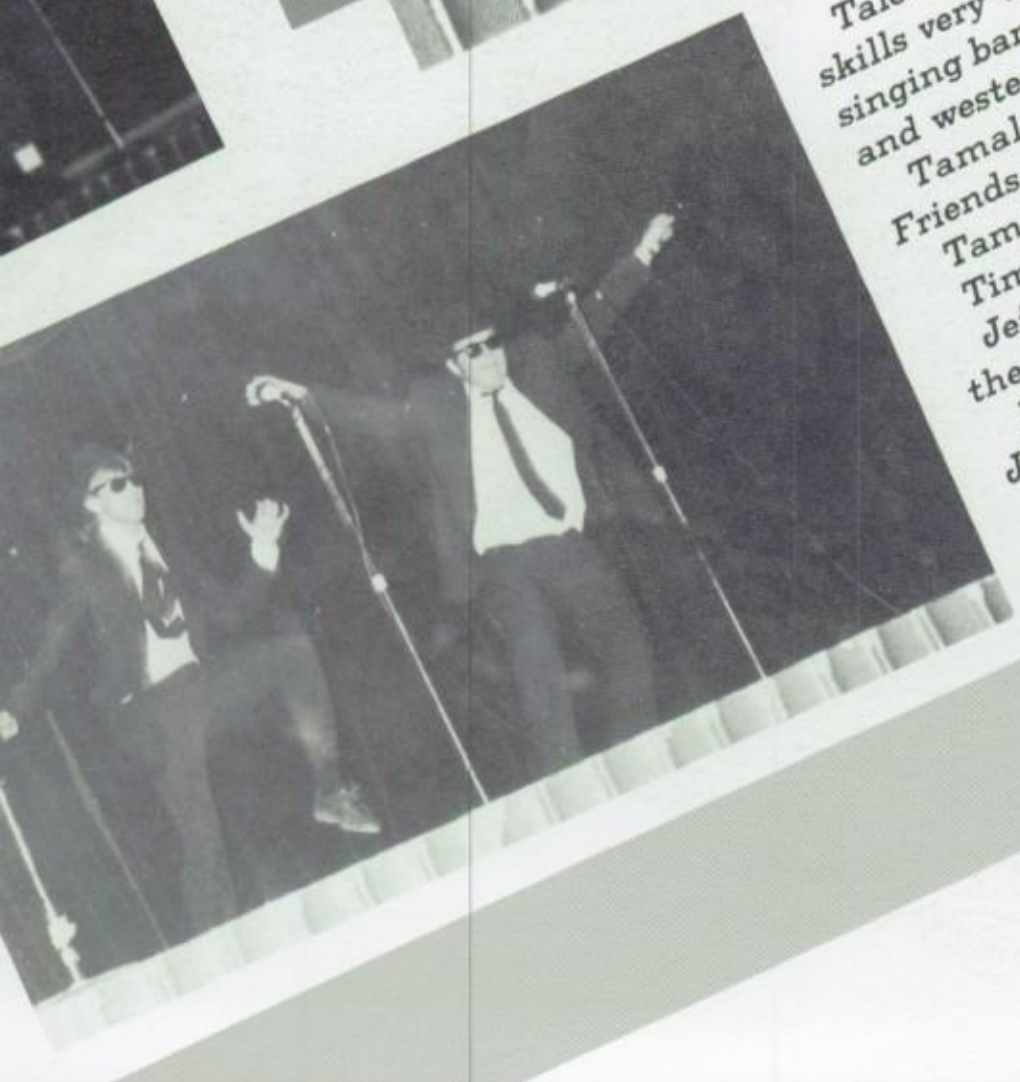
This was not a contest concerning awards, but a show held for fun. Participants were chosen from auditions and it involved more than fifty students.

"The sole purpose of the show was to have fun and give the people in this school a chance to show off their talent," said Mr. Ron Foore, activities director and Junior Class sponsor. He also added that he hopes this will become an annual event.









Talent was abundant that evening and each performer diplayed his skills very well. The audience was treated to a variety of acts, from a singing band director to a "Blues Brothers" imitation; from a country and western duet to a rap band; virtually nothing was left out.

Tamala Nicholson and Ronnie Wrather sang, "That's what Friends are For."

Tamala Nicholson sang, "Saving All My Love for You."

Tim Lashley and Bill Robinson sang, "Blame it on Mexico."

Jeff Ball, Eric Johnson, Robbie Daniels, and Arma Polk formed the "THOB MOB" in Rappin' and Beat Boxin'.

Roy Upton, Phillip Arney, John Bryant, Camron Schulz, and Jack Metzger did an "Air Band" version of Ratt.

Bill Mehm and John Case did a version of the "Blues Brothers."

The National Honor Society made one major change this year; a higher grade point average requirement for its members. Students hoping to receive membership had to maintain a 3.5 weighted grade point average. Mrs. Carolyn Hurd, the NHS sponsor, said that it did effect membership somewhat, but she also felt that the students would accept it as a challenge.

This year's NHS induction ceremony was held at Will Rogers High School on October 22, 1985, and introduced the 1985-86 members of NHS.

Officers were Michele Roper, president; Kari Rae, vice president; Michele Faulkner, secretary, and Christy Edwards, treasurer.

AFS Reaches Recife, Brazil

The class of '86's AFS student, Andre Cavalcante, came from Recife, Brazil.

"I like Tulsa, it's very interesting." Andre said. "It's a different kind of people, and a different kind of life. There's lots of history and pretty places in Tulsa."

Although Andre prefers Brazilian food, his favorite American food is Braum's cheeseburgers and fries.

As a Country music fan, Andre likes Willie Nelson, Alabama, Don Williams, George Jones, and George Straight. In Brazil, Andre saw the dubbed version of "Beverly Hills Cop." In Tulsa he liked "The Breakfast Club", and last summer's major hit, "Back to the Future". On TV he likes everybody's favorite waskelly wabbit, "Bugs Bunny", "Magnum P.I." and "The Cosby Show" were favorites also.

He had never seen hail before. So in November, when the big hail storm came around 2:45, Andre came into class and said, "It's raining ice!"

Over Christmas vacation Andre went to Winter Park, Colorado. It was his first time skiing and he caught on the first day. "I never saw snow before. To see snow and get to ski on it was wonderful." said Andre. "I never thought it would happen."

Andre was a kicker on the Varsity Football team. He was in French and took photography. One of his best friends was photography teacher "Mrs. Pamela" Lundy.

Will's Week

At the time of Will Rogers' death in 1935, he was a legend and a national institution. William Penn Adair Rogers was born near Oolagah, Oklahoma on November 4, 1879. He was a lasso expert and a skilled horseman. His stage show consisted of humorous comments about politics and politicians while doing rope tricks. He became an American Hero bringing humor to the public during the depression and starring in movies.

Will's Week was celebrated November 4th through November 8th and featured its annual abundance of spirited festivities. For Monday, there were senior nominations and door decorating. Tuesday was Nerd Day, the Tricycle Race, and Girls' String Day. Wednesday featured the Wagon Race, Boys' String Day and Dress-as-Your-Parents Day, Spirit Chain Finals, the Pep Rally, and later that night the Hale football game. Friday capped it all off with Dress-Up Day and the door judgings. It was definitely a week to remember.

Academic Award Winners Have What it Takes

Among Rogers' many awards recognizing special achievements, one that consistently provided incentive for students was the Departmental Scholarship Awards.

Every academic department was represented at the assembly, and the eleven outstanding students were chosen based on the following considerations: Academic achievement, good citizenship, outstanding moral and spiritual values, good attendance, and excellent character. These students exemplified the qualities which our fine school seeks to promote.

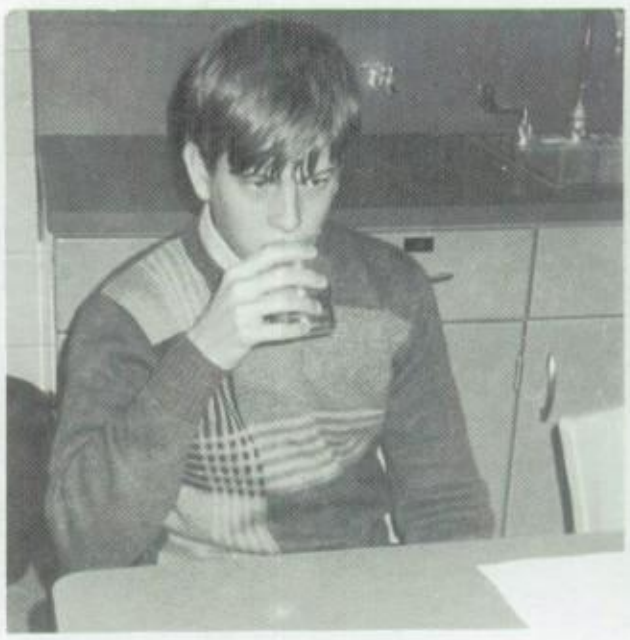
Scholars Compete

Academic Bowl is a team of scholars who compete with other schools in school-related subjects. The team is composed of volunteers and other students with teacher recommendations. The team, coached by teachers Marilyn Yoachum and her assistants, Jo Ann Ragsdale, Charles Sitter and Lowell Garrett, met every Tuesday and Thursday in room 230x for practice. They also utilized the new computer lab. With regulars and some occasional drop-ins, Coaches believe the students "possess good potential." Although started at Rogers High School in 1984-1985, the team never competed until this year.

Recently a buzzer and light system was purchased by the team and they began challenging other teams to play at Rogers, with East Central being the first to accept. Other meets included Edison in November, Memorial in December and Washington in January. A round robin tournament was held in February with the State contest taking place at Stillwater on April 12.



Although fairly new to Rogers, this year's Academic Bowl came on like professionals throughout the year. They put in long hours after school to be prepared for their matches. The team, which was started in 1984, fought many obstacles throughout the course of the year. But, like professionals, they kept on going and came out on top.

AFS Increases Membership

AFS added many new members this year and for the first time in five years sent a Rogers student to a foreign country. Raymona Turner, spent her junior year in Istanbul, Turkey. AFS also enjoyed success financially by selling sweatshirts and banners during the winter and candy in April.

The officers included Michelle Roper, president; Anne Marie Carroll, vice president; Christy Reitz, treasurer; Cindy Garcia, inter-school coordinator, and Tue David, public relations. Rogers' AFS student this year was Andre Cavalcante from Brazil. He enjoyed playing for the Roper football and soccer teams. He was a member of the French Club. His favorite American food, he said, was biscuits and gravy. Although he missed his parents and friends, he believed his experience in the United States would give him a better understanding of the world.

First Year Computer Club is "Basic"

The Computer Club, newly formed this year, was led by Ms. Callie Atterberry. The officers were Jeff Wickersham, president; Tim Hunter, vice president; Eric Slater, treasurer and Donna Moen, secretary.

The club sold computer-printed banners and woodburning art to get the new treasury off to a good start. The members hoped to use the money to get a phone modem next year. Ms. Atterberry said that the club's main goal was to get students to get a better understanding of how computers work and how to use softwear applications, as well as basic programming. The club uses IBM personal computers.

DECA Serves Community

Distributive Education is a project developed for students entering the marketing field. D.E. aids the students by supplying the needed additional training to achieve advancements in employment.

According to Sponsor Jim Ramsey, D.E. members were involved in many activities throughout the community this school year. They attended fall Leadership Conference and a State Career Developement Conference. These conferences helped developed competitive skills which imporoved their understanding of D.E. Marketing.

In October, members showed their concern for the community by distributing candy to small children at The Tulsa Boys Home. Perhaps the most honorable achievement of D.E. was the Target activities day. Members of D.E. helped Senior Citizens shop for Christmas. In all, the 1985-86 school year proved profitable for D.E.C.A.

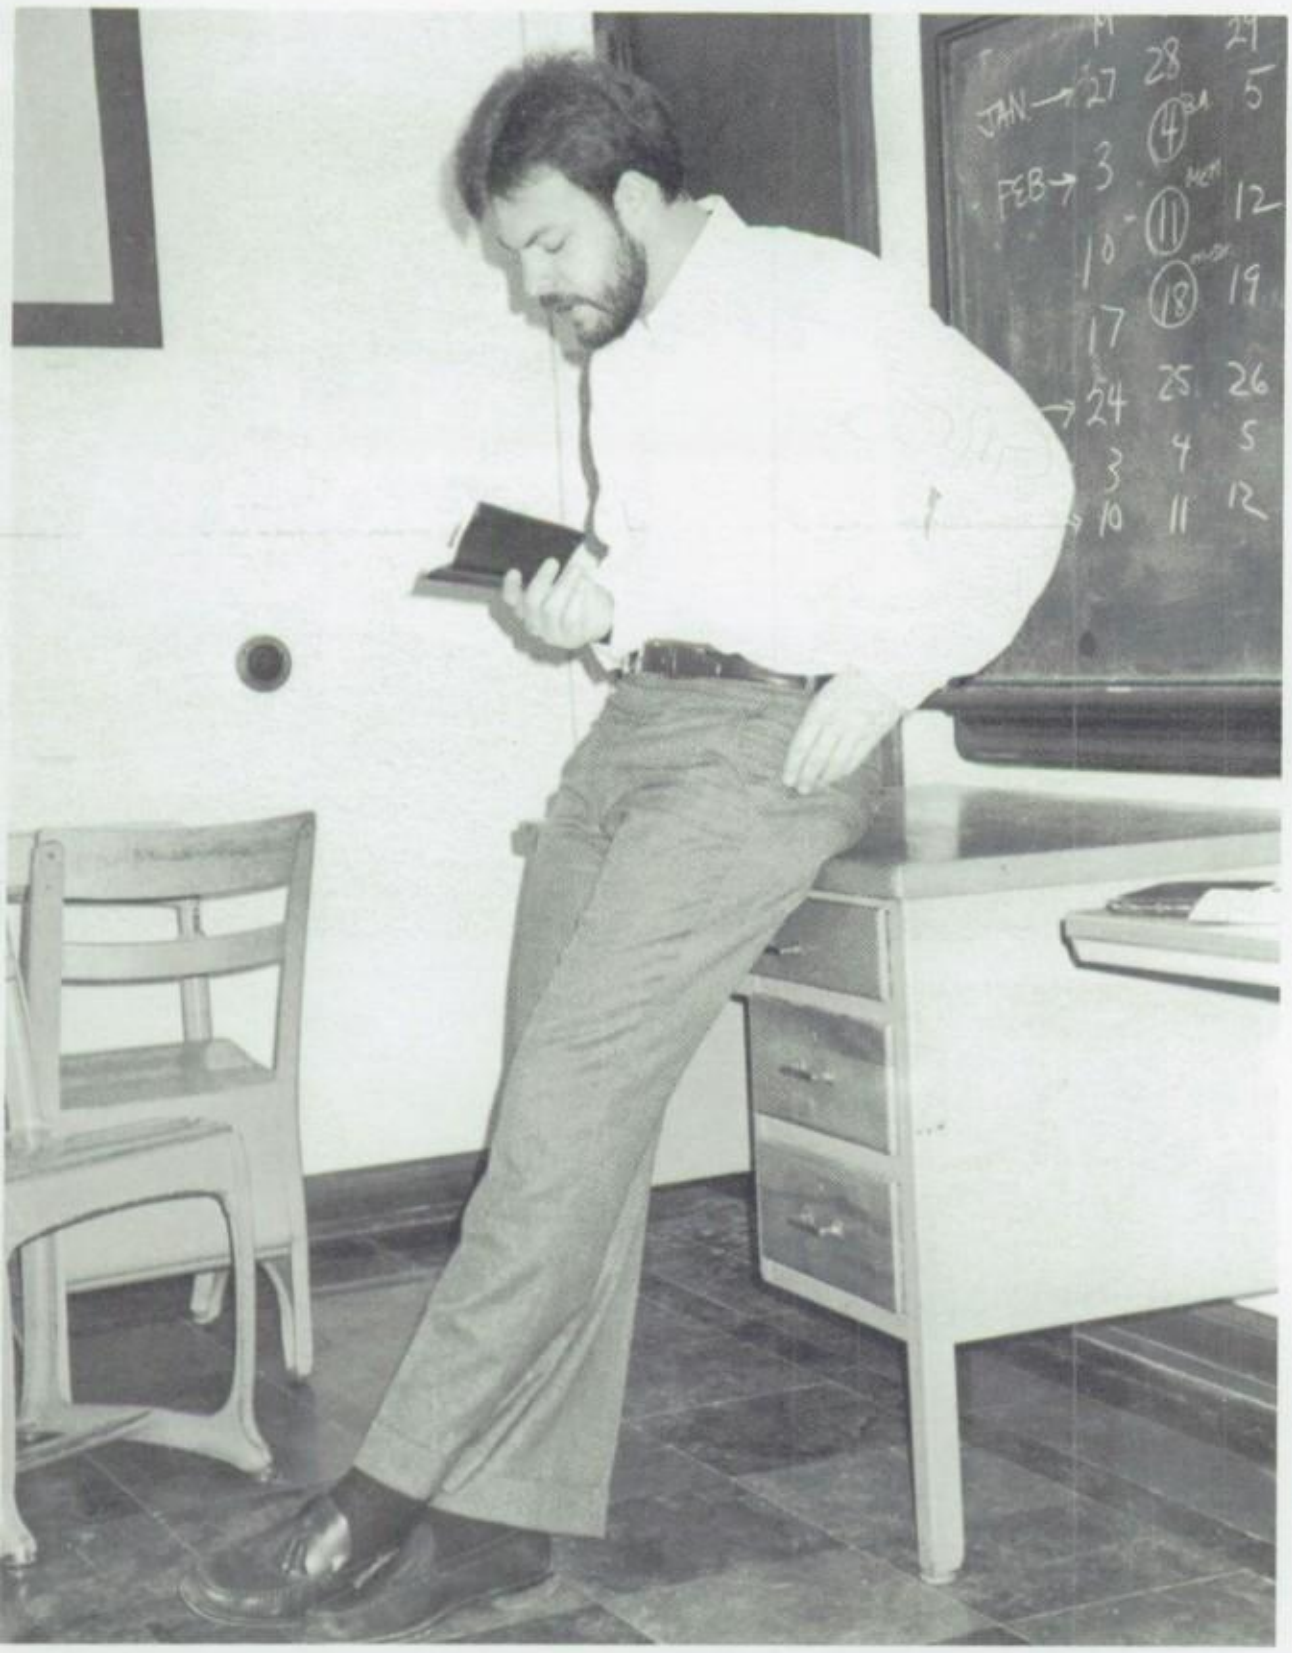
FCA Makes Strong Comeback



Fellowship of Christian Athletes, also known as FCA, made a very strong comeback this year. The national organization had been successfully sponsored by Coach Gordon Morgan for years, but it folded in 81-82.

This year, Coach Brad Camp has revitalized the group. Coach said, that he hoped that FCA would meet some of the young people's needs. The club had weekly meetings on Fridays before school.

Coach Camp's motto of "Total Release" echoes the club's challenge to encourage athletes "to give it all they have mentally, physically, and spiritually."

Coach Camp shares some thoughts at the early morning FCA meeting.

Le Club Francais

"Le Francais, c'est la langue d'amour du monde." For students not fortunate enough to be enrolled in "Le Francais", the above statement is a quote from French Club president Michelle Roper stating, "French, the romance language of the world!"

French Club started off the 85-86 school year with a back to school "piquenique" at McClure Park. Christmas was celebrated at officer Kathy Yarbrough's house complete with games and French cuisine such as crepes, chocolate fondu, and yule logs. Mardi Gras, a celebration the Tuesday before Lent, was celebrated by a costume party and the crowning of the Mardi Gras queen and king.

The club raised money by membership fees of $3, the selling of sweatshirts saying, "Kiss me and I'll tell you!" in French and a car wash. The club also competed in language competition at Austin College in Texas.

French Club had a total of fifty members with officers Michelle Roper as president, Heather Young, vice-president; Christy Edwards, treasurer; Kim Wilson, secretary; David Watson, social chairman, and Kathy Yarbrough, publicity chairperson. French Club was sponsored by "letres bon professeur" Mrs. Donna Monier.

Interresant — n'est-ce pas?

The annual trip to Austin College in Sherman, Texas during "Foreign Language Weekend" was an event that was anticipated by French students more than any other event throughout the year.

As expected, the mighty Roper French Club left Texas with its usual armfulls of ribbons. Students who participated in the trip entered in all of the following categories: one of the plays, one of the tests (oral or reading comprehension), and their choice of making a poster pertaining to their second language, reciting a poem in French, or reciting a work of prose in French.

In all, Rogers won twelve yellow ribbons, five white ribbons, fifteen red ribbons, and nineteen blue ribbons.

There were several things about the trip that went over big. Some students enjoyed the bus ride. Others enjoyed watching other schools perform. Andre Cavalcante's favorite part of the trip was the party Friday night, and when he won two blue ribbons. He said, "It was good to have the opportunity to see another state, and to participate in a French contest. I'm happy to give the school two blue ribbons."

Some students, under the extreme pressure of competition, ran into some problems. Anne Marie Carroll mentioned, "It was depressing when I froze on my poem!" Winning fifty-two ribbons was no small feat!

Future Business Leaders of America, according to sponsor Katy Berryhill, is a business club that stresses developing leadership qualities and building self-confidence for students enrolled in the vocational office programs. Even studentss who have taken business classes in the past are welcomed, as members.

Members attended a fall leadership conference, where they received more information and a better understanding of their office jobs. Students competed in a spring leadership conference in Oklahoma City, with approximately 1,500 other students in the categories of shorthand, typing, accounting and word processing. Their performance was judged on speed and accuracy.

The club was sponsored by Mr. Carl Hale and club officers: Robyn Crawford, Lisa Smelser, Tami Thompson, LaShona Wolfe, Windi Darby, and Anne Carroll.

Several tribes were represented by the Indian Club at Rogers including Cherokee, Choctaw, Creek, Seminole and Apache.

The club is centered around cultural activities and helps it's members with such things as college planning and counseling. Mrs. Lillian Williams visited the Rogers library every Wednesday at nine a.m. to talk to students who wanted to learn more about how their background could help them.

The 1985-86 school year saw the very first election of Maque and Gavel Club officers. They were as follows: Elissa Lindeman, Secretary; Diane VanDera, President; Mark Prater, Vice-President; Bill Robison, Treasurer; and Phillip Robertson, Parliamentarian.

The Masque and Gavel took on more responsibilities during the 1985-86 school year. Presenting The Sting, with the largest cast of any of Will Roger's previous performances, brought about a new set of problems. As Senior student director Diane VanDera said, "This play was certainly a challenge. The problems presented by the cast were almost amazing. Fortunately, we overcame our problems, one of them being the audience, and gave an excellent presentation."

For the spring play, the Masque and Gavel gave its version of Agatha Christies' Ten Little Indians. The cast was small, and though actors had problems with the English accents, the cast pulled through with flying colors and gave a wonderful performance.

Red Cross Gives Gift of Life

"Red Cross had more students this year," said Jim Potts, faculty sponsor. At Christmas time, both the canned food and the filling of stockings was very successary. But the highlight of the year was the response to the blood drives. Rogers was one of the few schools that sponsored two blood drives, one on January 29 and the other on April 3.

Mr. Potts named Veronica Goss one of the most faithful members of the club that numbered about 20. Others who helped make the year a success were the faculty and students who donated during the food and toy drives or gave during the blood drives.

With yellow only being awarded in reading and oral examinations. Profe Polumbus and Ron Foore, who were chaperones, were very proud of the students.

Manuel Combs said the weekend was exciting and fun although it was hard work preparing for it, but it was all worth it. "The bus trip was fun, especially with Pedro Burkitt sitting next to you listening to Iron Maiden on his Walkman, even though he sang out loud."

One of the award winning Austin plays. Even after a long weekend, everyone is still in a good spirits.

Sponsor Jim Burton plans to show the film to each new class of freshmen in the future.*

The Student Council sponsored the "Walk for Mankind" campaign and the FS program, which provided lunch for students. A "computer matching" service made money on Valentine's Day. Members competed in state contests at Metro Christian Academy and attended the National Student Council Convention in Oklahoma City.

Officers were Phillip Robertson, president; Tim Lashley, vice president; Tammy Conley, treasurer; Donna King, parlamentarian; Diane VanDera, secretary; and Anne Marie Carroll, social chairman.

Electronics VICA was separated this year into two clubs, the first and second hour VICA Club sold Thanksgiving Grams, Christmas Stockings, and Valentines Day Grams. The third and fourth hour VICA Club sold key rings. The money collected was used to send representatives of the Electronics classes to a local competition in February.

Cosmetology VICA has an a.m. and p.m. club. Each club spends three hours in school learning about cosmetology. The club sold candy canes, calenders, make-up brushes, and pocket calender. In February, the VICA Club went to Broken Arrow for a convention on new cosmetology styles and skills.

Individuals

Class of '86

This year the Senior class officers were up to no tricks with the class of 86!!!

The Senior class sponsored two of the biggest dances this year to help promote the Senior prom. At the beginning of the school season we had one of the best Halloween dances in a long time.

In October the Seniors began the selling of the World's Finest Chocolate bars, which always plays a big part in raising money for the Senior class.

December saw the Senior class hard at work, sponsoring the Christmas dance, and having pictures made with Santa and his elves. All of the activities contributed to the success of yet another Senior class.

April was the month of decisions. We had to start talking more about graduation and Vespers.

The good-byes and cries filled June when we graduated and returned to get the last report card and diplomas. Saying good-bye is the hardest thing to do.

This year's officers were Lori Mendez: Secretary/Treasurer, Scott Mayfield: Vice President, David Watson: President, Yvette Barnett: Social Chairperson. Yvette and Lori making arrangements for the prom. Ms. Dolores Sims, the class sponsor, discusses the week's plans with the the officers.

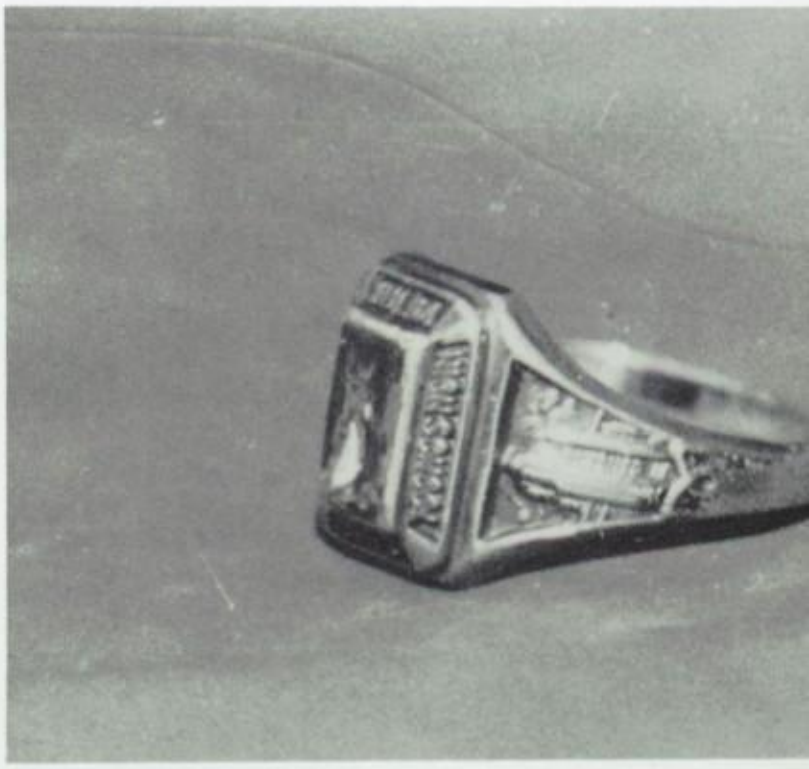
Our Time Has Come

Al's Formal Wear, Sir Knights, Poison Ivy, and Extension were the places to be in the month of May. Seniors were on the look out for dress and suits for prom night. Girls spent months searching for the perfect dress. Tuxedoes for the guys were rented for that formal look.

This year's colors were Dusty Rose and Ivory and the theme was We've got tonight which was printed on the napkins and programs at class day. At Vespers the line leader's dress were the same color also.

The prom was held on May 30, 1986 from 8:00 until midnight at the Sheraton Kensington Hotel's Ballroom.

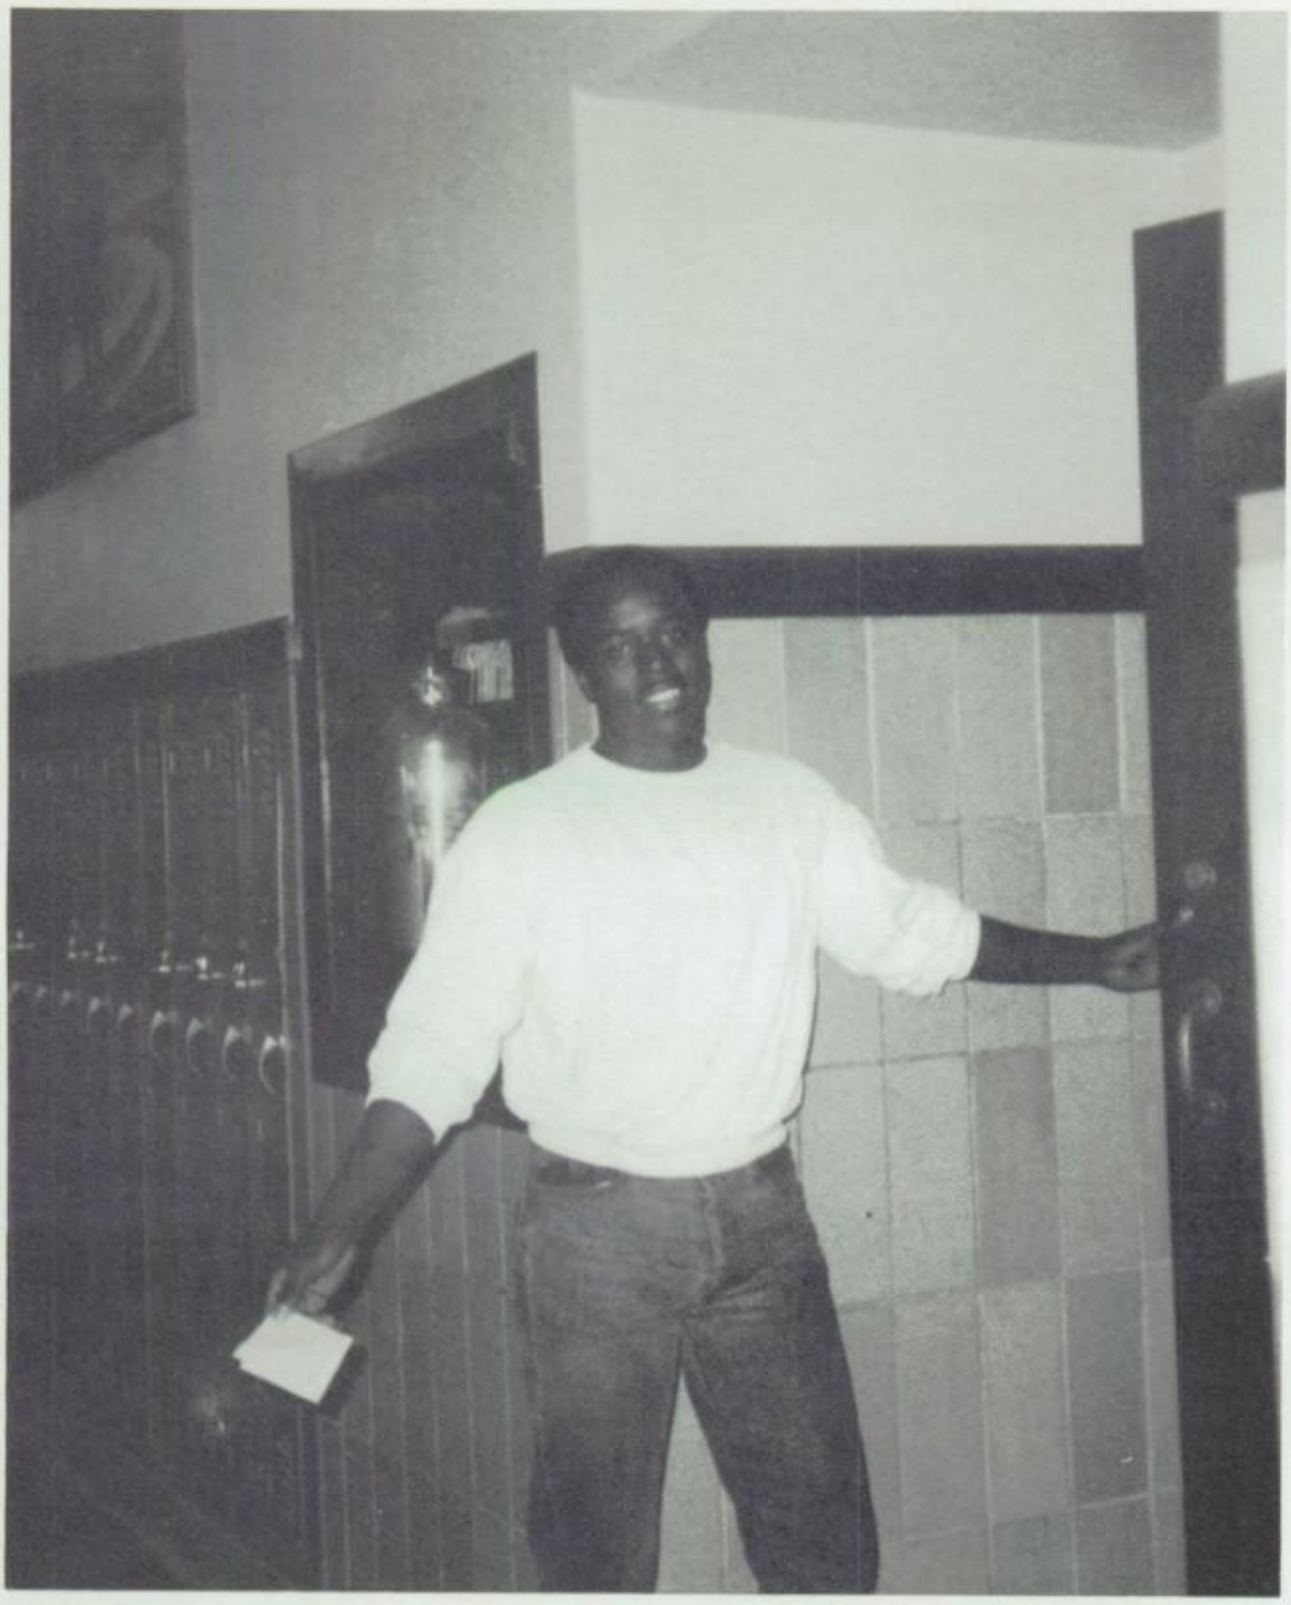


Sharing those last memories together are Scott Combs, Dawnyail Minter, and Michelle Goff.

Seniors at Their Best

This year Tonya Blaylock was the 4 time winner of the MVP. She started playing at the age of 8 and started pitching at 9. "I was excited about being the first girl from Roger's softball team to make All-State" said Tonya. Making the team gives her a better chance of going to college and recruiters a better chance to look at her talent. She said she would like to give special thanks to her father (who pushed her through) for everything.

"Hmm" What do you think that is? says Stacey Champman. Kathy Arney asks "Who said you can't wear sunglasses in class?" Someone told Anne Carroll that you wear garters on your head. At Oklahoma University, Randy Turley searches for Barry Switzer.



Senior Guys Show Their Stuff

Chris Chube asks, "Did you see me on Mid-South Sunday morning?" "I'm not as think as you stoned I am", said Mike Roldan. "Do you REALLY expect me to eat this?" asks Brad Wallingford. Steve Kissinger and Scott Mayfield show their friendship while ordering announcements.

In a rare moment of Rogers' history, the junior class rose above the seniors to capture first place in the Spirit Chain Contest.

The 1985-86 Junior Board consisted of four hard working individuals who did what they felt was best for the class. Paul Roper was questioned about the impact of being class president on his social life. He replied with a much expected answer of "Nothing, I'm still a nerd!" This year's officers were Paul Roper, President, Minh Nugen, Vice President, Deana Adams, Treasurer, Kim Beaty, Social Chairperson, and Mr. Foore, Sponsor. Some of the fund raisers consisted of candy sales, Junior Jam, mirror sales and Christmas sales. The juniors also hosted the Homecoming Dance.

It wasn't an exceptionally ghoulish night for a Halloween at Will on the Hill, but it was a night of crazy impersonations and fantasies.

The Halloween Dance has been the most popular school dance for the past few years and this year was no exception.

Great music cranked out to a packed gymnasium of costumed students. The prize winning contestants were Bill Robinson—Funniest, Chris Pierce—Scariest, and Deena Conwell and Phillip Stevens—Best Couple.

The pictured Halloweeners are Bill Robinson and John Hines, Anne Carroll, and Donna King, Carolyn Vazquez, Scott Combs, and Vicki Metzer with Carl Roberts.

Helping their fellow classmates on this year's Sophomore Board were Ulysses Turner—President, Robyn Spears—Vice President, Angie Bell—Secretary/Treasurer, and Marcy Cly—Social Chairperson. The Sophomore board raised around $1,100 from their World's Finest Chocolate bar sales. Participating in the spirit chain was another achievement of the Sophomore board. They also sold KMOD Rocks Rogers shirts. Robyn felt the outstanding thing about this year's Sophomore class was their togetherness. Mr. Greene, the sponsor, stated, "An outstanding feature about the Sophomores are that they are really enthusiastic and they are real active salespeople."

Corey Morgan started out in rodeos at the age of twelve. A close friend of Corey, Ervin Williams, helped to get him started. He later moved up to Junior rodeos with the (NYRA) Northeast Youth Rodeo Association. He rodeoed in Mannford, Collinsville, Delaware, Turley, Berryhill, and Inola.

Corey plans his future in the rodeo circuit. He also plans to be in (PRCA) Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. At the age of sixteen, Corey accomplished much by earning a fifth place belt buckle in 1984, second place belt buckle in 1985, and a fourth place ribbon and $1300 this year.

Corey has been clowning for a year. For Corey it has been a successful year, competing in forty rodeos from April through October.

"Challenging, exciting, and fun," were the words of Freshman class president Jim Smittle. The reason he wanted to be president was, "I wanted to help my class."

The Freshman Class was involved in the World's Finest Chocolate candy bar sales, spirit chain, sold doughnuts in the morning, and co-sponsored the Valentine dance with the Sophomores.

Mrs. Wolfe wanted to be the sponsor for the class of '89 because she likes students and felt it was a good way to meet freshmen.

The officers plan their next meeting for the Valentine Dance. David Karleskint—Social Chairman, Jim Smittle—President, Mike Cope—Vice-President, Margaret Moore—Secretary/Treasurer.

Freedom! No more being left behind! No more going where everyone else wants to go! All it took was removal of ol' restriction number nine, and those keys, and off you went—never to be stranded again. But that semester of training never said how to get through the oval quickly at 2:45, or just how to pass parked cars in front of the cycles.

No matter, though. Cruisin' at Rogers has become a larger spectator sport every year. There's no telling who would be driving, or what they would drive next. You could see everything from good old American classics like David Watson's '64 Chevy, driven by Matt Dillon in the movie, "The Outsiders", to the latest in European technology pass through the oval in just a matter of minutes. Not to forget familiar combinations, like Roman Steed and his van!

Do you want drugs in your school? The choice was made for you. Over 65 people were arrested on drug related crimes on or near school grounds. If a person wanted drugs, how easy would it be to get some drugs? One student said, "I can get it to you between classes, or I could get it to you at lunch." When asked what he could get, he replied anything I wanted is just a phone call away. One of the deans felt drugs are used in school each day, she said, "I don't really know how much is being used, but I think about 10% of the students use drugs and 5% use them at school. There is no drug program at Rogers. Perhaps the time has come to think about one.

A bar of chocolate has about 450 calories. But as most people say, "It is still good and I don't care how fat it makes me, I'm still going to eat it if I'm hungry." This year all four of the classes participated in the candy sales with the two top sellers senior Lisa Godwin and Junior Tracy Marshall winning $10 gift certificates to Buttons. The major opposition to this candy sale was the selling of Zit Formula to unsuspecting classmates who bought bar after bar of the instant Zit maker. But the main reason for the buying of the bar was the coupon on the back for a free whopper at Burger King. Anne Sisler sells a couple of "zit makers" to Tammy Brock.

Was the cafeteria where you wanted to be? The cafeteria might have been the only choice for the hungry students at Rogers to gather for lunch, if the threat of a closed campus had become a reality. This drastic change threatened us because of excessive amounts of litter strewn by the students around the campus and neighboring homes. Everyone took advantage of going to McDonalds or Burger King, but never thought of the consequences that others suffered because of inconsideration.

There was the difference in food and service, whether it was quality taste, or time. The cafeteria at Rogers was large and did have a variety of foods. People who chose restaurants had shorter time to eat because it took longer to get there. One choice might have been better than the other, but it was good to have the choice.

This year Rogers and Hale initiated a program that moved most varsity athletics to after school. "At Rogers, practices for tennis, golf, track, swimming, and all ninth-grade sports have been moved after school." said principal Richard Cox.

Many students didn't like the change because they had to work after school. "It cuts down on practice," said tennis player Tim Lashley, "Because some of us have to leave for work." Jimmy Smittle, who played on the Freshman football team said, "I would rather have 6th hour varsity because it gives you a lot more time to practice. Although we accomplished a lot in the amount of time we had."

David Karleskint, who was the Social Chairman for the Freshman Class, participated in the November play, "The Sting." In the play, David acted the parts of Mr. Cayton, a stuffy executive, and Floyd, a bodyguard who happened to be a bad guy. David said, "Playing the parts of those characters wasn't hard, but I had few lines." Friends helped him by practicing his lines with him and giving encouragement to him. Ms. Hambric, who directed the play, taught David in her speech class. David had been in school plays repeatedly since elementary school and hoped to act in more. He said, "I like acting a lot and hope very seriously to make it my professional career."

OK, OK, let's all admit it, we still like to watch cartoons and play around. We all still like to play on the swings. Junior Sandy Carr and Senior Lori Baker show their talents in the field. And how many of us have a stuffed animal on our bed at home and still play with them as Sophomore Tonya McWilliams and her Cabbage Patch Doll show us. When Seniors were polled about their favorite cartoons, the oldies but goodies came out on top—Bugs Bunny, The Flintstones, and the ever popular Scooby-Doo. Yes, that's right they knocked off the Transformers and Thundercats. No matter how old you get, there is a little child in all of us.

The Bon Fire has become a tradition at Rogers in which the band, the cheerleaders, and the spirited fans take part in the raising of school spirit before a football game. This year, as in past years, the leaders of the football team threw mock opponent into the flames to show how they were going to play the next night. Along with the bon fire, was a car bash in which a person was given a sledge hammer to hit a car from the opposing team's school. The car bash and bon fire were not only a spirit pickup to the school, but a gathering of friends to show school unity.

How many of us, when going through the cafeteria line, looked at those great big chocolate chip cookies and said, "Sure wish I had .35¢" You were not alone. At one time or another, we were all broke and wanted one of those delicious chocolate chip cookies.

Those famous cookies were only introduced to the Ropers this year, and filled many hungry people, whether they were in class, or in the cafeteria. The cookies were so good they were eaten with ice cream, pizza, and even by themselves.

Of course the taste was what kept us returning for seconds. They were soft, and filled with great big, round chocolate chips that melted in your mouth. Yes, they were definitely worth the .35¢. And, for those of you who are wondering, "The Big Cookie" will be back.

Birthdays are anxiously awaited for by youth as each birthday entitles them to one more freedom and opportunity. The joy of birthdays sometimes lose their thrill as one approaches an elderly age. Ms. Hayes was surprised by her volleyball team on the celebration of her going "over the hill". In the attendance office, an even greater surprise was afored Mrs. Arney by her children, John, Phillip and Kathy. She was visited by a gorilla whom she thought was her older daughter, June but turned out to be a stripper hired by her children to dance for her. No one was sure of the things he whispered in her ear but it was an entertaining moment for some and an embarrassing moment for one.

There's a game tonight! Spirit is running at a fever pitch, and the mighty Roper Spirit marching band is sounding better than ever!

This year's pep rallies won't soon be forgotten as record numbers of Rowdy Roper fans, led by our great cheerleaders and pom pon squad, cheered our players on as never before. Our rallies were made even better by special appearances of coaches, speeches by the players, the Dance Ensemble, and the team's group rap.

Pep rallies gave everyone a stronger sense of belonging, and raised spirit to new standards. They were held out front, in the auditorium, and in the main gym. Some featured debuts of new cheers or routines, but all of them wound us up and got us ready for the upcoming game.

What is dark yellow with black stripes, approximately 30 feet long, and almost as rowdy as senior hall five minutes before class takes up? Right . . . a Will Rogers school bus. The bus was a place where great discussions took place about the day's happenings.

The activity bus was especially entertaining with the comedy routine of Tony Ball, Darrell Berry, Micheal "Sugar" Crisp, Arma "Loopie" Polk and Samuel "P.J." Paul.

Cortney McKnight, Marcoe Atkins, and Terence Lewis head home after a hard days work on the activity bus.

This less than modern mode of transportation seemingly makes as much vertical movement as horizontal movement, but education operates on the low-bid system.

Where were you when the lights went out? During 6th hour, Wednesday, November 13, the sky looked as if it were ready to fall. Chunks of hail and buckets of rain, accompanied by frequent bolts of lightning and ear-splitting thunder, shook Will on the hill to the brink of panic.

At 2:45, it seemed as if nothing else could go wrong. But did it ever! At approximately 2:47 p.m. all power throughout the school was lost. Any girl who wasn't waving her arms and screaming had fainted, and lack of daylight made navigation difficult for seniors, but really made it tough for underclassmen, as they had trouble even on good days.

I'm writing this year for my fellow friends of Will Rog ers High. The football team would like you to bring them magi dust for next year hoping they can win four games in a rou While you are at it bring hearing aids for Coach Criddle' classes; his screaming is making them deaf.

Randy Turley requested a wig of straight hair and Carl Rob erts wants his hair to be able to blow in the wind. Christi Carroll loves her hair, but she said she could use a differen color of dye. Do you happen to have flourescent green?

Jeny Caudle told me to remind you of that blow up doll of Mat Dillon you promised her last year. Tim Lashley said he woul cry for a year if he didn't get green boxer shorts with "I Lov Aaron" printed in orange across the back.

Mike Park and Kellie Lindsey said their love life would be perfect if they had matching Donald and Daisy Duck shirts. Krista Babiarz wanted "A REAL MAN". Chuck Oliver wanted more sexy girls at Rogers. Kim Mayfield wishes you could send more mature guys. Karl and Eric Foutch both agree that matching girlfriends with mohawks would be heaven for them. Billy Woodruff would like a louder voice because no one can ever hear him. A nice big Chip 'n Dale is something Lisa Wade has always wanted. Stan Sample is getting lonely, so could you send him a Cabbage Patch doll? LaShona Wolfe requested a romantic date with Coach Morgan. Shannon Fulkerson, asked for a massive party. John Bryant said the return of Mr. Wilson would make his junior year happier.

Friends were always there when we needed them. If we needed a shoulder to cry on, or just someone to have fun with.

We always had trust and faith in them and they were able to find the same in us.

Of course there were the quarrels that sometimes got in the way; but, misunderstandings were usually all they were. Sometimes though, it was much more, and it took a lot of time and compromising to come to an agreement.

Sometimes, they meant more to us than anyone else because we talked to them more freely and openly than we did with others.

Friends are something that we've always had, and always will.

Running for class office requires a much dreaded and challenging activity . . . the speech. Many tactics are used to make the appeal to fellow classmates. Some are serious and some attempt to be humorous and some are humorous without attempting to be. Minh Nugen urged the student body to vote for quality, not popularity. Often students vote for the most popular and ignore the leadership qualities of those running for office.

The leaders of each class have a big responsibility to assume after being elected to an office and popularity will not help them carry out those responsibilities.

It doesn't matter where you go. It's always sitting on the shelves waiting for you, watching you, and its lurking everywhere. Suddenly!! It's made you look, it's made you want, and it's got you right where it wants you, because it's SHOP-O-MANIA!!!!

Shopping is one of America's favorite past times. Hundreds everyday go to shopping malls to spend their money on almost everything imaginable. It has been said that shopping can relieve tension, fatigue, and even make a person happy.

Paula Breedlove and Betty Fowler went to Southroads mall to do some Christmas Shopping. However, SHOP-O-MANIA put them at the top of their list.

There's no escaping the SHOP-O-MANIA! So Beware! It can strike you anywhere and at anytime!

When somebody asks what school you go to, you can say "Rogers; and I'm rowdy through and through!" If they ask what a rowdy is; the definition from the dictionary is: a person whose behavior is rough, quarrelsome, and more. How many of us have seen those die-hard fans at the football and basketball games that just won't take defeat.

The teams feel that when they're down and tired, they look up at those people in the stands cheering them on, and they feel as though they can't let them down.

One professional photographer that attended one of our games for a special assignment was quoted as saying, "You all are the loudest bunch I have ever worked for!" He added, "I haven't seen spirit like yours at any other game!"

SRA Tests: How could we forget them? They are famous for the long tedious hours that accompany taking them. They are also the cause of a very serious mental illness known as ovalophobia. (The fear of those little fill in ovals). The SRA tests actually serve two very important purposes: It gives the school some idea about how it is doing in its job, and more importantly it informs the students progress in school.

Unfortunately, most students do not take these test seriously. There are many different methods for filling out the hordes of little ovals. Many zig-zag down the list of letters, while some attempt to spell out the name of their favorite rock band. Others actually read the questions, and fill the ovals as best as possible.

It's raining. Cold too. Fifteen students and one ever-understanding adult ready themselves for a trip not soon forgotten, or duplicated. It probably wouldn't have been so memorable without the van they had, designed for carrying up to eight ten-year-olds.

The brave group of students was this year's Lariat Staff, and the adult was their sponsor, Pam Lundy. The trip to Oklahoma University was taken to attend on-campus seminars about yearbook production. Some of the things they learned went to use in this yearbook! They received information on choosing a theme, information on cover styles and planning, and what's hot and what's not in making a yearbook. Despite the minor flaws that accompany most trips, the Lariat Staff "Tour '85" was a success, and the spirit that started with the trip carried on throughout the year.

There are many high school students who are holding jobs today. There are many different reasons why students choose to work. Chris Vogel has chosen to work because he likes the money he received for a job well done, the girls he meets at work, and he feels it better prepares him for the future.

Many parents feel that if their child was to accept a job, then their school work would begin to suffer. This isn't so to Chris. He feels his job helps him make better grades, because if he doesn't receive good grades then he must quit his job. He also feels that a job can make a person more responsible and it helps a person relate to authority better.

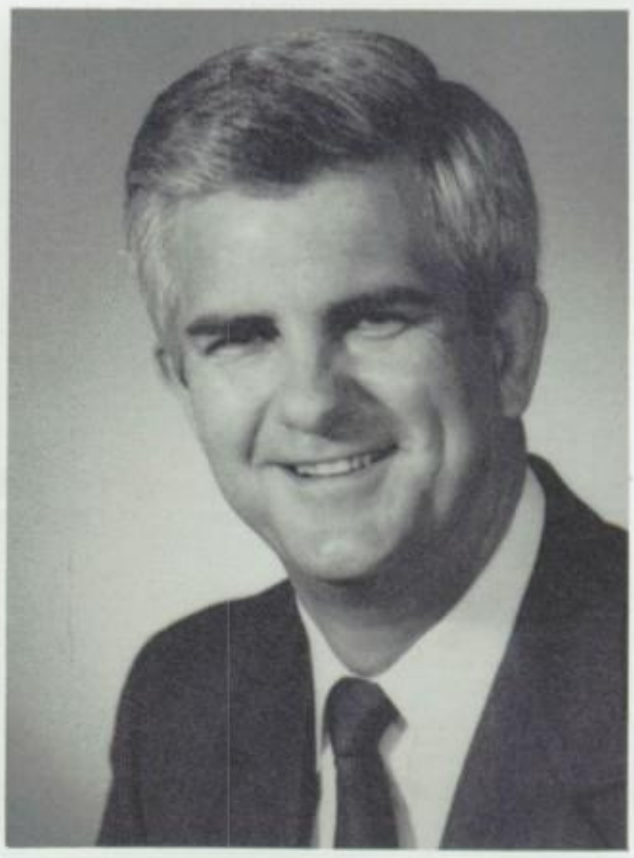
"People will get behind only those decisions that they have had a voice in making."—Larry Zenke

"A number of programs are being phased in throughout the district which hold great promise for marked improvements in students achievements, especially at the elementary level. These include math management, reading management and Writing to Read.

"At the same time, we are in the process of implementing several programs designed to assist our employees in achieving their own potential. These will include a pilot program for employee wellness, another for employee assistance (basically a counseling and referral service), and third is the initial phase of site budgeting. The latter should provide employees with greater opportunities to give input into the way dollars are spent.

"Site budgeting is a big step in participative management. We are now entering our tenth year in the implementation of this philosophy."

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS: Ray Conrad, Joni Schietzelt, Judy Eason-McIntyre McIntyre, Gary Watts, Marjorie Dougherty, Walter Hushbeck, Vernon Hobbs.

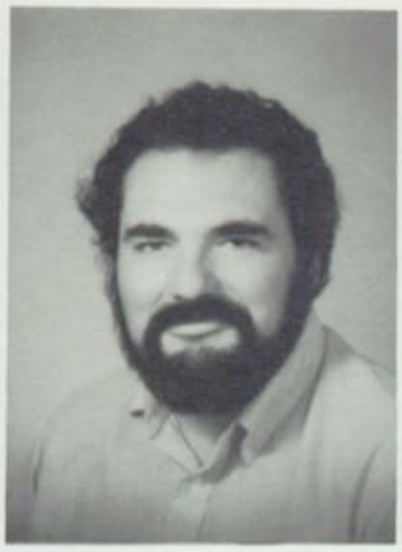


Dr. Larry Zenke, Superintendent

"ATTENDANCE is the most important factor in reaching that goal of graduating from high school."
—Richard Cox, Principal

"One of our major goals this year was to improve attendance and reduce tardies. A detention and in-house suspension program was added in an effort to discourage some students from "skipping" class or leaving school without authorization," said Mr. Cox.

"Rogers High School is a great school that was established by students, parents, and faculty working together for a common goal—the education of young people."



ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS:
Tom McGuire
Scott Richardson
Fred Wright

New to Rogers this year was Mr. Wright assuming the Assistant Principal position in charge of Student Affairs. After seven years as dean and three years as assistant principal at Central High School and one year as Assistant Principal at Gilcrease Junior High School, Mr. Wright enjoyed a friendlier climate not having the chores of student discipline.

Mr. McGuire tackled his new position in charge of attendance and discipline by implementing a program of parent contact upon excessive student tardies, absences and odd hours. This new policy improved the attendance problems considerably.

Mr. Richardson continued the improvement of the quality of the curriculum and the efficiency of our computer scheduling. The unanticipated influx of 350 new students at the beginning of the year posed a challenge that Mr. Richardson and his computer aptly handled.

As the largest high school in the city of Tulsa, the demands upon the counselors, deans and nurse increase. Besides handling the quantity of students, counselors have the challenge of also attending to the needs of a diverse population. Matching schedules of the interests of their counselees to the variety of courses offered at Rogers is an ongoing challenge.

Mr. Foore stepped into a new position of coordinating student activities. His job required organizing activities to help students keep informed and to improve their opportunities to enjoy extracurricular activities. He also relieved many of the teacher responsibilities of organizing and informing leaving them more quality classroom time.

Support Personnel Add to Rogers' Success

Behind every successful school stands a great support staff. Besides their busy clerical load, these ladies catered to the many requests of students, teachers and administration. Not only is the efficiency with which they performed their duties a big plus, but the pleasant attitude that accompanied their assistance.

One of the most unpopular places to be on a school day was in the in-house suspension. The keeper of the key was Mrs. Hair who monitored the assignments each student had to complete while they were serving their time and who escorted them to their twenty minute lunch breaks.

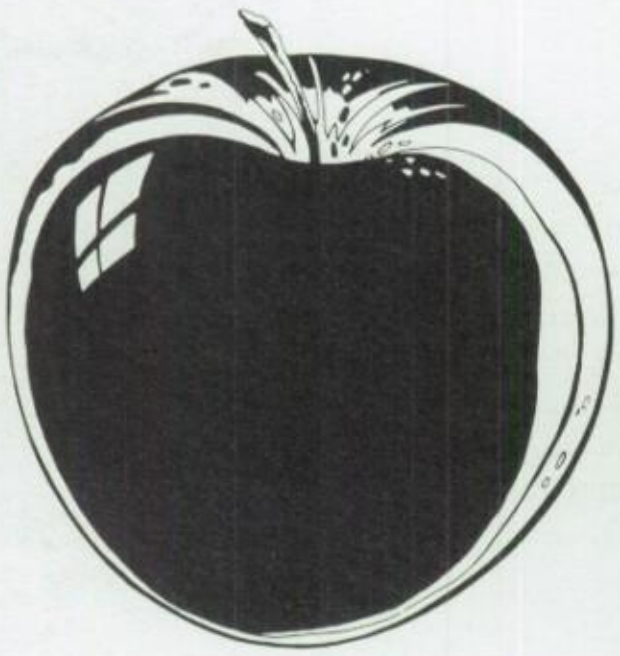
Custodial Staff Keeps the Shine on the Prettiest School in Town

If You Can Read This, Thank a Teacher



There are many reasons why people choose teaching as a profession, but the bottom line is a certain dedication to young people. Teachers offer not only expertise in the different subject fields, but different personalities and experiences to share with their students. Some of Rogers illustrious faculty include Tonya Tibbs surrounded by her students, Ms. Sims dressed up for Halloween, Dixie Wheaton stimulating conversation in Psychology, Mr. Cagle and Mr. Dailey enjoying ping pong during lunch break and T.L. Montgomery encouraging his students to be creative. Mr. Bennett conducts the band for an assembly performance.

Academics

Hello There.

How's it been? Fine here. Krissy, remember just the other day we were talking about my drawings. I guess that Art class I took is paying off. We entered the AAA traffic posters contest. Some students in my class made Bumper Stickers, there were a lot of good ones. I wouldn't be surprised if we made first place. We did paper maches, sculpturing, and pottery. Well, I'm gonna letcha go so I can get busy on my assignments.

Dear Steve,

How ya doin? Fine here. Well, I had some freetime in third hour so I'm writing to tell ya what all I've been up to. I was just setting here trying to figure out my banking account and decided that I ought to write you and tell ya about it.

To start out with, I added the totals together... 14 times! I still haven't gotten it to work out right though. I finally decided to write you to calm my nerves!

I hope that your day in going better than mine. Well, gotta go, Mrs. McFrazier is on her way over here to rip my note up & throw it in the can!

Hiya Chelle,

How ya doing? Fine I hope. I'm really glad I chose Cosmetology my Junior year now that I'm a Senior. I've almost completed the hours that I need to get my license. I only stay in this class three hours a day, but still get the Basic Training. We did some great things, like the candy cane sales, and the free manicures. We do all kinds of services like shampoo, permanents, and Make-up.

This year we got ourselves sweatshirts with our own slogans. Well, I better go check my appointment book!

I've learned so much about business with Mrs. Berryhill being my teacher and having the job she arranged for me. I never really thought I could enjoy working. This year in COE we have many machines to work with, like the IBM personal computers, CBM 2001 copy machines. The Christmas Party was very successful too, we got to invite our bosses and friends. I really appreciate all the hard work Mrs. Berryhill has done for us. Yes, I can see myself as a Business Woman.

A lot is counting on this job though. We get a grade for DE, an extra credit for school, not to mention the pay. Well, I'd better go for now. Wish me luck!

Dear Jody,
How's it going? I'm in English right now. It's been a blast all year long! Studying interesting people like Macbeth and Becket, has been fun. The dedication of those men was outstanding! Writing like they did would be confusing though. This year's edition of the ~~Phoenix~~ was put out by the English class, also. Some of those poems and stories were really good! The ~~Phoenix~~ is a good way to show people that some of the kids at Rogers have literary talent.
Gotta go!

She is starting to teach us a new conversation. By the way did I mention there is a trip to Spain for Spanish students this year?

Shannon,

Hi. What are you up to this morning? Not a whole lot here. I just got through eating. See, I've got Home & Family first hour and this morning we made omelets and hash browns.

Next semester we will start sewing. I doubt if anything I make will be wearable. This class is so interesting, we learned a little about child care, grooming, and taking care of a home. Its definitely all hard work. Well, I'd better say goodbye so that I can help with the dishes.

But, for the most part it really fun being a part of the Hoofprints staff, (especially after deadline). Well, better say goodbye for now so that I can get busy.

Dear Jeff,
Hi! How are you doing? Not much going on here. Mr. Higgins just got buzzed again and that disrupted the class for the day. Right now some of us are watching a television set we fixed. This class is a blast! Working with my hands is fun also! I can almost fix anything electronic now. Maybe I will be a T.V. repairman when I get out of school! Well, not much else to write. I'll see you at football practice!

Hi! How are you feeling? Man, it's been real busy around machine shop lately! Everybody wants their stuff fixed. It got so busy one time that when Mr. Austin asked us to fix his chair, we accidentally put it on backwards and it leans forward now! Oh well. I've heard that the other classes are having fun, also. I think it would be great to be able to take Drafting next year! We are learning how to fix a lot of things in this class. Well, I'll talk at you later!

Next semester I will start Home Maintenance. I think it will be really fun. We get to paint walls, lay sheetrock, and weld things together.

I think it will help me though, because I plan to build a doghouse this spring. It to also helped my layouts and measurements. I think architecture would be a great profession, maybe I could take a course that would help! Whatcha think? See ya Jeff

Dear Stan:

I'm so happy that we got a II at regional contest! Every morning that we got up and made it to school at 6:40 with curlers in our hair and bags under our eyes has finally paid off, and I never thought it would! Those days of marching around in the dark, and sometimes early morning fog has finally paid off!

Mr. Bennett has done a good job, for his first year at Rogers. He had a tough act to follow. I'm already looking forward to next summer when we teach the new Freshmen how to march. It'll be a blast!!

I love how Mr. Bennett calls them toys. Our cabinet is known as the local "Toys R' Us" store. He's so crazy!

I hope I learn how to play all of the percussion instruments! Mr. Bennett's pretty determined that I will.

I'm going to have to fight to keep first chair, but I think I can do it! If I ever major in music, I'll have to practice alot so I might as well start now! Well, its time for the next song so I'll write more later.

Hey Lurein,
What's up? Not much here. You should be on Lariat again. We just finished a 13 hour all-nighter Saturday morning. It was the Junior-Sophomore-Freshman pages. Halfway through the night we found a mistake in the B's, we had to start all over. It was a pain, but we got to keep the consistency. There are some great people on the staff We had our infamous Mazzio's deep pan pepperoni pizza. Remember when "Like a Virgin" was the song we heard over and over and over on the radio. Well this year it's "We Built this City". I hate the song now. Well gotta go.

Dear Pam,

Hi. How ya doing? Pretty good here. Just setting in the library trying to get some studying and late assignments finished. This is the only place I could find that was half way quite. Also, We get to come down here quite often in English. I have a research paper due next month, so it looks like I'll be spending a lot more time in here. My research paper is going to be over airplanes from the first models, to the previous ones. They've got some great books with good diagrams too. Also, they've got a copy machine so that I won't have to draw them! Well, better go get busy so that I can finish.

Hi! What's up?

Am in photography now, getting ready to develop some more film. I never thought that such a fun hobby would be offered as a class! But you wouldn't believe what happened today! We were loading some film in the janitor's closet when Mrs. Wheaton opened the door to see what we were doing! I could have SCREAMED. Well, gotta go — See ya after school,

Michelle,

Hi. Whats up? Just thought I'd write to say hi, so hi. I'm so exhausted. I'm in P.E., we just finished doing exercises, we jogged in place for a couple of minutes but it seemed like forever.

I can't wait until this spring so we can play softball or tennis. Its nice just to go outside and walk around the track. Our P.E. teachers are pretty nice this year. Except when Ms. Hayes calls us weenies.

Well, Michelle my hand is starting to hurt, just like the rest of me, so I'll say bye now. Bye.

Hi. How's it going? Pretty good here. I'm in Science this hour. We just took a test over body structure.

We dissected earthworms the other day. It made me sick. After dissecting that creature I wasn't able to eat lunch that day But Oh Well, it probably did me some good not eating.

Anyway, last night as our homework assignment, we had to go outside in the freezing weather and watch Halleys Comet class the sky. But, it was pretty neat, it looked kinda like a falling star. Oh, my gosh, I got my paper back and it made an A+. I can't believe it.! See ya after school. Byl.

Jerry,
Hi. How is it going. It's great here. I'm in Mr. Parker's. We're studying Russia. It's not great. But it is kind of interesting. Especially about Lenin and how Marxism came about. And how Russia entered WW II. Hitler's hatred for Russian Jews is what gets me. I didn't know Russia had kings, except they are called Czars. There is this TV mini-series based on Peter-the-Great, who was a Russian king, I mean Czar. Gotta go.

Elvin,

Hi! I only have a minute to write. There are so many things that have to be done for assemblies and plays. It takes more than one person to do it all. When I first looked at the light panel I thought I'd never learn all those switches.

I sure wish you would have gotten in stagecraft it's an exciting experience.

Well I better clean the stage up.

Love you,
Sandy

Dear Traci:

What did you think of our Christmas performance this morning? I thought we were fabulous! Miss Sikkink cracked me up, the way she was pacing around waiting for something else to go wrong. She always does that, and usually something does go wrong!

Miss Chapman should be called the woman with the magic fingers, don't you think? It's amazing how she can only have ten fingers, and play all of those notes at the same time!

This has been the best year so far that I've had at Rogers. I don't think it can get any better! Well, the bells about to ring, gotta go!

Strives for Excellence

This year's Football Team's season was, in the minds of many, a great success. A member of the band was quoted as saying this year's team was a big improvement over last year's season. The Ropers won more games and came closer to winning more than in any other years past. Four of the six lost games were to top 10 ranked teams in the state and 3 of the 7 loses were closer than 3 points. Rogers beat McLain when the Scots were ranked 8th in the state and went to the play-offs for the second time in two years. This year's season may be looked on as a success.

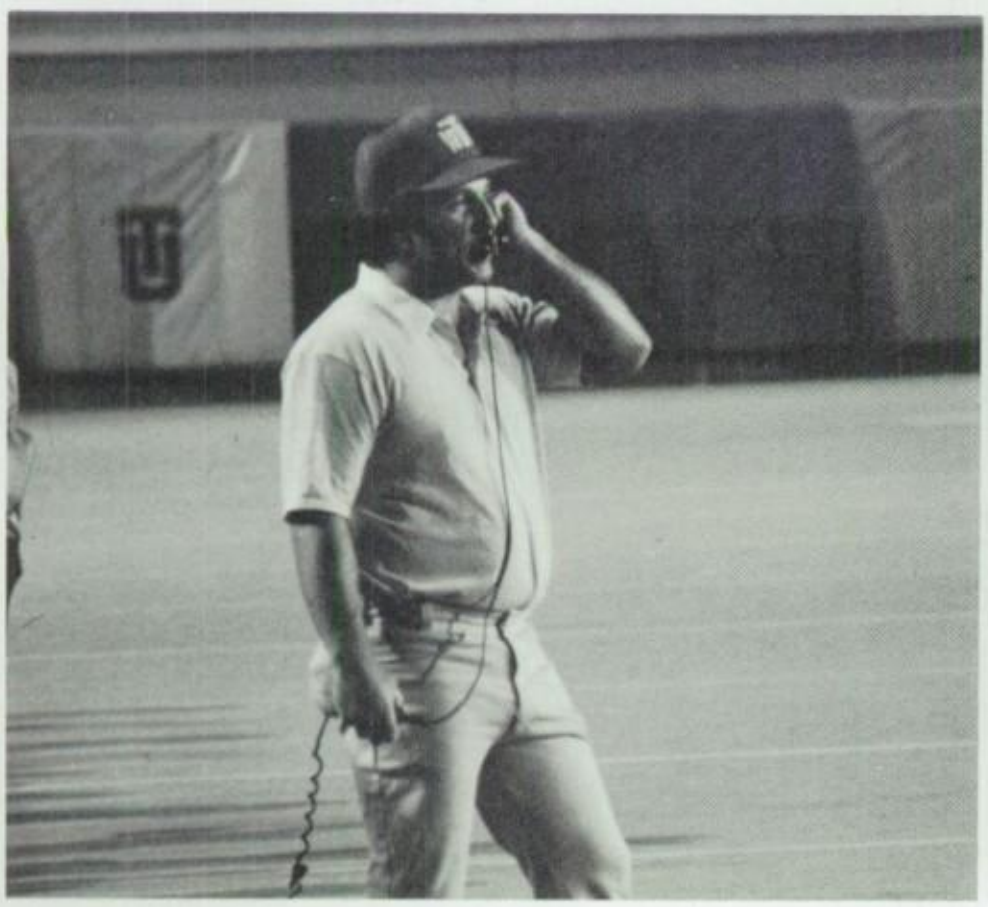
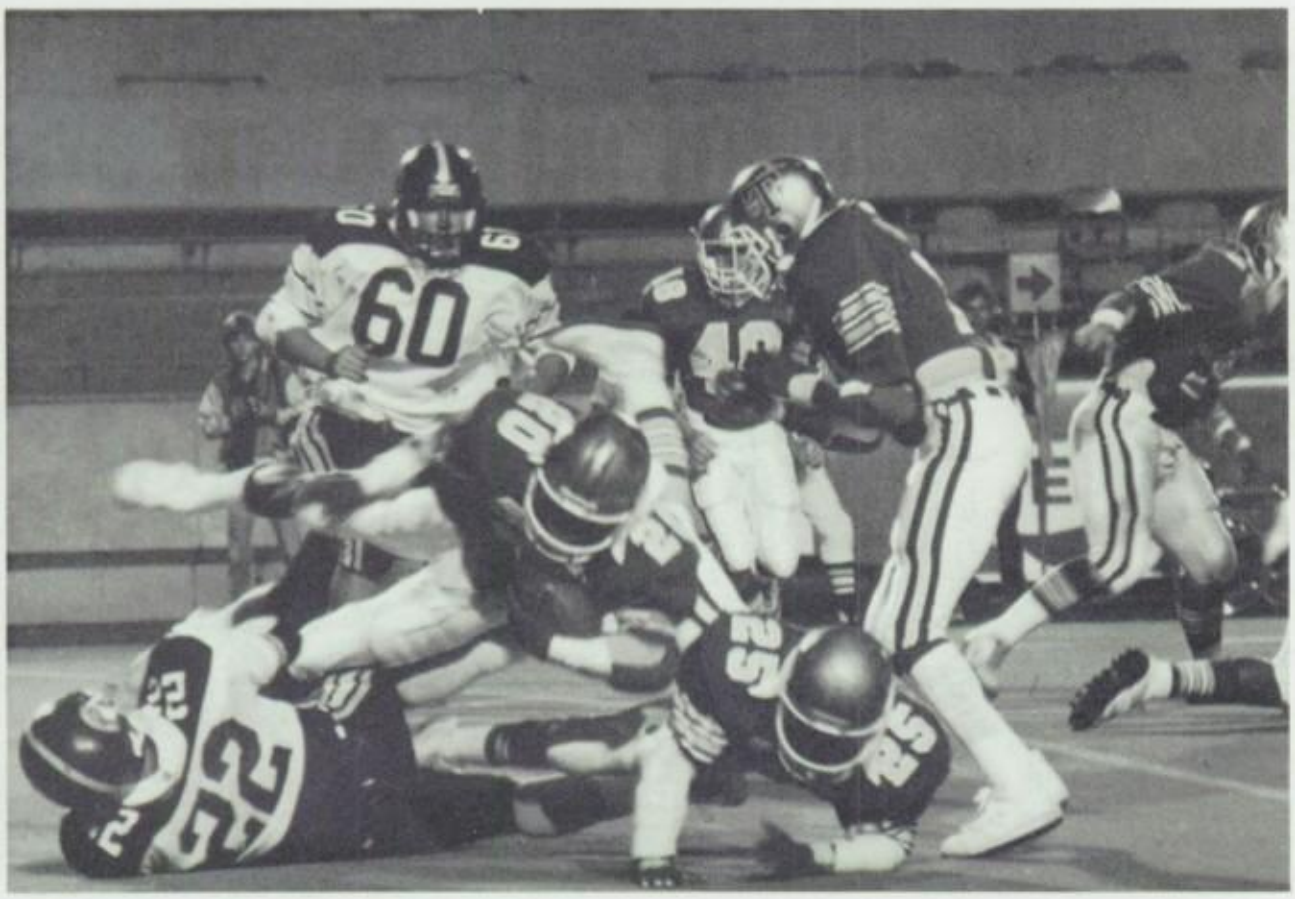
Battles It Out



F O O T B A L L



The battling Rogers football team worked hard all year long to advance to the State Play-offs for the second year in a row. This years team traveled to Ponca City on a chartered MKO bus in hopes of winning it's first play-off game in 11 years. The Ropers went into the game with a mistake free game on their minds. This thought was diminished when the Ropers made the biggest mistake of any game all year. In the final minutes of the game the Ropers were ahead 15-14 until they fumbled the ball on their own ten yard line. After this the Ropers steel curtain held up for three downs, but this was not enough to stop the 30 yard field goal in the last 26 seconds of the game that made the final score 17-15. This year's season will not be forgotten by the '86 Roper Varsity team.

James looks for the open receiver. Coach Crookham discusses the next play with other coaches. Michael Mornes gets reading for the Hale game. The Seniors step up for a bow at the game. Wren said, "This one's going down town." Roper defense says, "Hit me with your best shot." #20 holds onto the ball even as he goes down.

JUNIOR VARSITY

JV Has Many Firsts

The JV Team had many accomplishments. They won 5 out of 7 games. Like no other school in Tulsa, the Ropers used three quarterbacks in each game. Trevin Powell, Samuel Paul, and Wardell Smith. Rogers, to the delight of Coach Phil Davis and Coach Craig LaGrone, had three firsts—beating the undefeated Broken Arrow Tigers in Broken Arrow 20-7, beating Muskogee at Rogers 24-8 and defeating Washington. Some of the more outstanding players moved onto the Varsity team later on in the season. These players were Steve Antwine, Juan McKnight, John Meeks, Wardell Smith, Terance Lewis, and Gary McColpin which contributed to the Varsity winning attitude and spirit.

Coach Phil Davis teaches the team that to have character is the most important thing. Michael Crisp burns the Eagles deep. Steve Antwine says, "The Bear doesn't have anything on my team." The Ropers break a big one at the middle. Steve takes it over for six points.

Playing as Winners

The Freshman team was a young and inexperienced team, but did well late in the season with three straight wins over Edison, Hale, and McLain, that enabled the team to go to the play-offs. One of the major contributions to this year's winning season was Coach Smittle and Coach Camp, who taught their team that winning wasn't the most important thing in life but that to have character and to be a sportsman. In the play-offs the team faced McLain and won 6-0. Then came the arch rival, Washington, which the Ropers lost to but which ended a great year for the 9th grade.

Ropers swarm to the ball. Coach Camp wonders what his team is doing. On the open field, there's no one faster than a scared Freshman. The Eagles just can't stop the Ropers! Ropers do get taken down . . . SOMETIMES!

Keep the Spirit Up

This year's Varsity Cheerleaders kept the spirit at Rogers on a high at all times. The cheerleaders sparked enthusiasm at the Varsity Football games, and at pep rallies through out the football and basketball seasons. The Varsity Cheerleaders took an active part in the basketball season by cheering for the team in both tournaments and at games. The Varsity team attended a cheerleading camp which the cheerleaders said, "It was very helpful in their learning and making up of new cheers." Christy Burks, Head Cheerleader Deena Conwell, Erin Dobbs, Deana Adams, Shawna Kehe, Leslie Spiker.

Deena Conwell says, "I'm finally tall." In all kinds of weather their spirit never fails. Give me an "R".

Rogers' winning Coach Lonnie Spencer reflected on the challenges he faced with this year's varsity team.

"The most challenging thing about any team is to first establish leadership. Once we had done that we could move on to the more obvious "problems". The next great challenge was to get the right chemistry which was difficult starting two sophomores. The next thing was to establish some depth and a "sixth man" which we didn't have at the first of the year. When the other players came along, at gave us depth . . . and then we could do some different things."

"Tony Ball and John Williams came a long way in providing leadership. The two sophomores, Lee Mayberry and Don Jones really came on for us.

And Robert Yarbough did an incredible job of accepting the "sixth man" role."

Rogers won its first Area Championship in 30 years with a thrilling come-from-behind 64-53 win over Muskogee.

Thinking fast, Sophomore Lee Mayberry prepares to make his move while looking for his opponents. Senior Tony Ball hustles to recover the ball. Varsity players demonstrate good offense in rebounding the shot. Junior Jeffery Ball heads down the court to add two more points to the leading score.

The Ropers finished a winning season of 19-7. Rogers has posted a 92-36 record over the past five seasons for a .719 winning percentage. The Ropers were Oklahoma Six Conference Champions, Regional Champions, Area Champions and lost in the State Tournament to second-ranked Edmond.

Team wrestling requires being physically fit and the cooperation of all the team members. Although some people begin to wrestle in high school there are some who have been in it for a long time. Senior wrestler Carl Roberts has been wrestling for 11 years. According to Junior wrestler Gene Langley, he said he started because it sounded like fun. To have a winning team one must have a winning combination of coaches. Rogers has 2 such coaches in Johnny Carson and Don Calvert. At the Webster tournament, Coach Carson got the outstanding coach award. One of the reasons the wrestlers like the coaches is because they know what they are doing and they relate to the wrestlers. The challenge of wrestling—to stay in there and not quit—is the reason Carl likes wrestling. According to Gene the thing most hated about wrestling is what hey call "pulling weight". Although some wrestlers pick the sport out of fun, some plan to wrestle during college.

Ropers Strike Out For A Winning Season

V A R S I T Y

Defense was the thing at Rogers this year. This year's team relied heavily on it's outfield to support it's strong infield. The main reason so much defense was needed was the absence of its pitching sensation Brad Herrel. But eager to fill in the shoes were Donnie Folds and Steve Porter, who throughout the year performed with pro accuracy. This years defense was helped with its opposite offense and its big bats. With 10 players getting hits it wasn't hard to win games this year, as in the past. The Ropers went to several tournaments, one of which was the Turnpike Tournament.

The team had many great and exciting moments, but in every boys eyes, they lived up to our expectation, and beyond. The team was lead by Seniors whose leadership showed through in some of the tighter spots. The past few years the baseball team has been taken for granted. We just expect great things from them, like going to state, regionals, and to win conferences. They are truly an asset to our school.

Working Their Way Up

The Junior Varsity Baseball team worked hard all year long (not just in the spring when baseball season is in), but in the winter when it was too cold to go outside. They worked on hitting the ball in the indoor batting range, commonly known as "the dungeon", and in the fall, they would stay out until it got so dark that they couldn't see the ball any longer!

Mike, Scott, Craig, and Jimmy appear to be catching on during practice. Rodney Melton anticipates his next hit. Jerry Rendon gives it all he's got. John Welborn prepares to send it downtown. Gary Suddath witnesses a great play.

TENNIS

This year the Rogers' Tennis Team welcomed their new tennis coach, Ken Daily and the new members of their team.

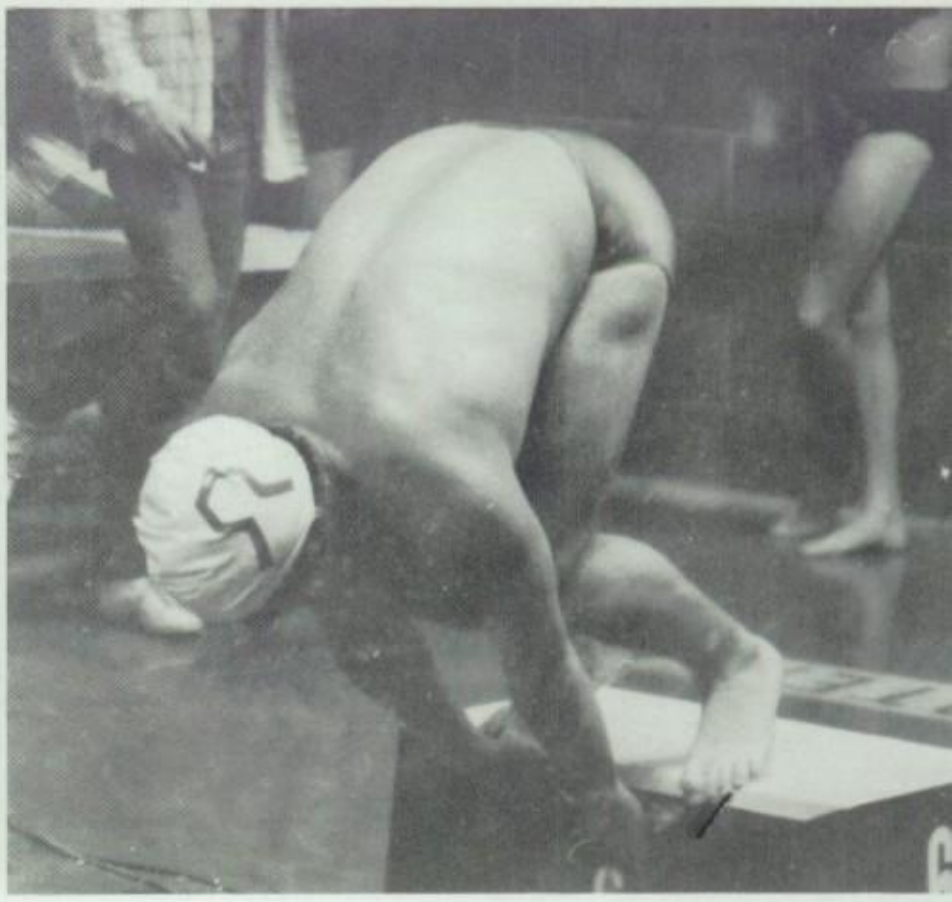
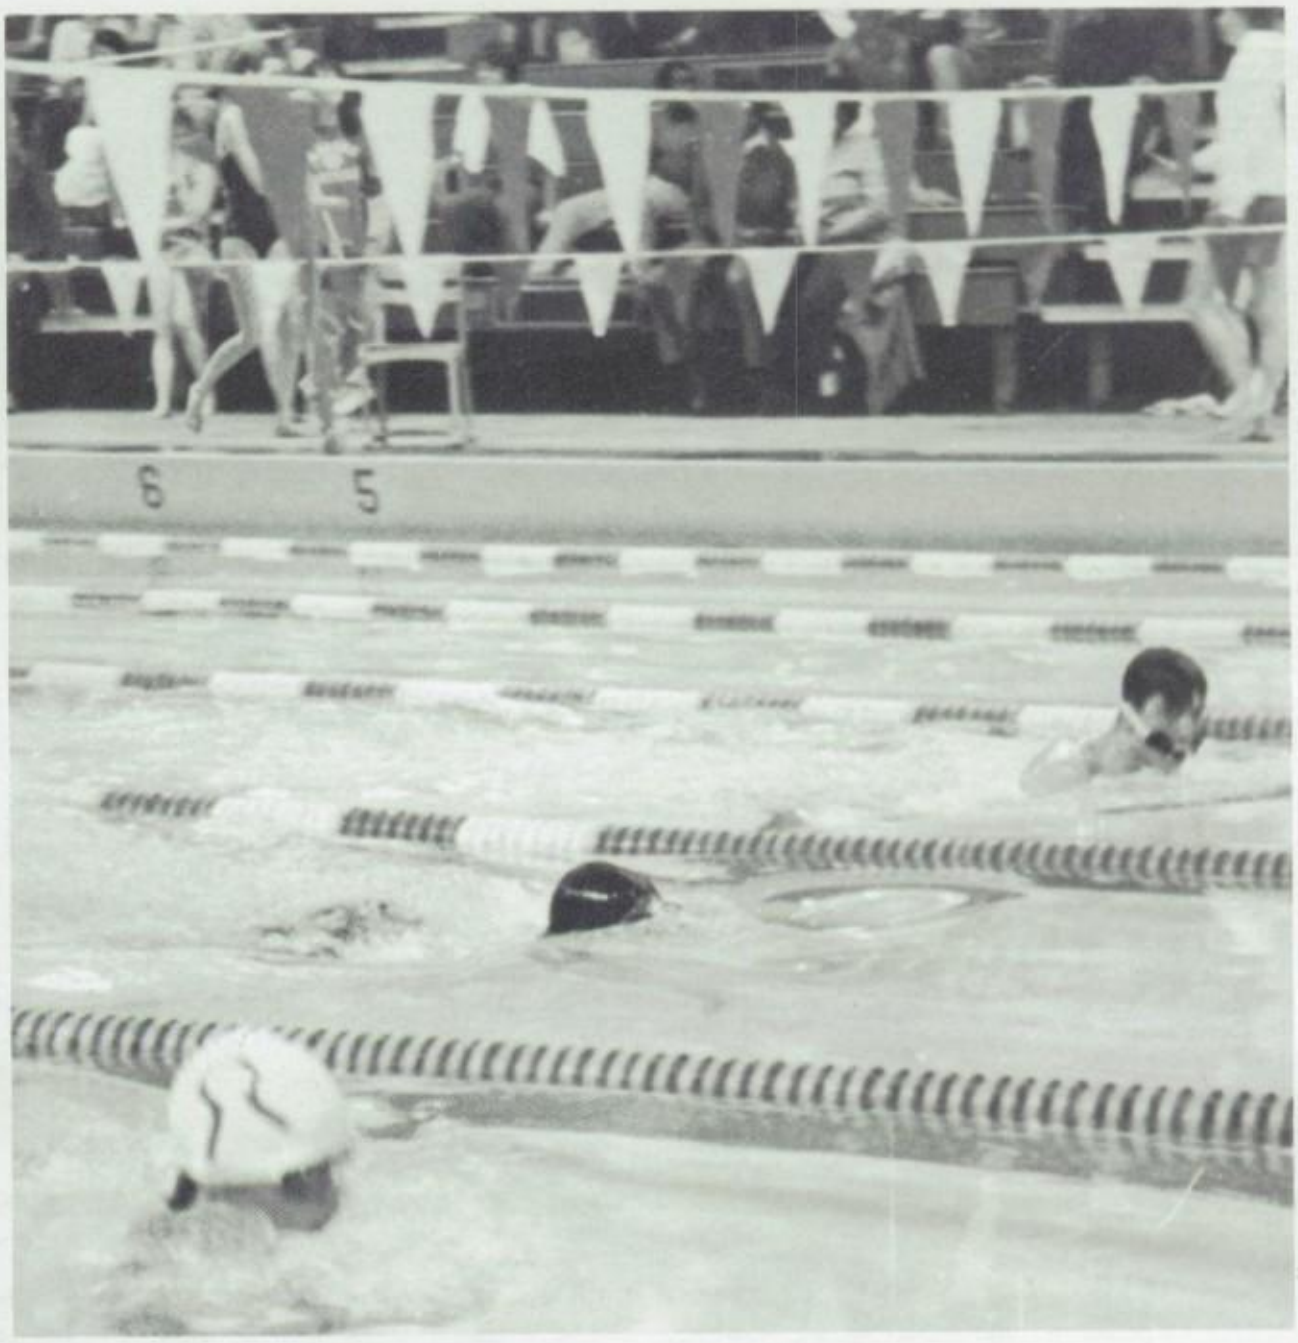
Makes A Big Splash.





The Rogers' swim team accomplished a lot this year. They practiced both before and after school. Coach T.L. Montgomery scheduled swim meets every day except for Monday, because the water was cold after the weekend. Their practice paid off during and after the season when the score tallied up to Boys 4-5, Girls 6-3.

Their meets consisted of diving and swimming tactics. The Oklahoma 6 Conference and the Jenks State Swimming contest were where these skills paid off.

Tibby DuMont practices her butterfly before performance. Belinda Carter wraps it up. Steven Wayne says, "Hurry before I lose my balance." Belinda Carter and Tibby DuMont yell encouragement at the Central Meet.

The lady Ropers Track Team, though young and new at the sport, experienced a good season with two returning sprinters. After setting new school records last year in the 440 relay, seniors Dawn Yail Minter and Shallonda Jones lead the girls in quality, power and strength.

The Roper men did a great job in their meets this year. After being together as a team for three years, they were dedicated to running and knew how it felt to win. They had close relations between each other like brothers said Coack Inkster.

CROSS COUNTRY

Young Team Shows Promise

This past season was very much a rebuilding year for the Rogers Cross Country team. There were seven boys—all underclassmen. There were four freshmen girls. With increased experience in spring track, 1986 team will be ready to be top competitors.

Volleyball Serves Rogers.

Our Volleyball team was really great in the 85-86 season Although the team lost most of its Seniors, it didn't set them back any, for they went to camp this past summer to gain the experience needed to win. Also, they attended a camp at TU given by Olympic star Debbie Green.

Money was raised for the team by selling jewelry. The traveled to tournaments during March and April where they did a fine job.

Julia Martin awaits the ball. Dee Bray, Julia Martin, and Jenni Anderson congratulate themselves and each other. Julia Martin sets the ball. Jenni Smith says, "I'll get it." Dee Bray says, "Will it make it?" Charities Raise Millions

Charity was in this year with the entertainment business and their fans. The causes ranged from the hunger, to support for the farmers, to research for AIDS. The events that raised $137 million were Farm Aid, Live Aid, Fashion Aid, and Hear 'n Aid. There were many recording sales that went for the numerous causes.

Bob Geldolf, the organizer of Live Aid raised the consciousness of the entertainers and their fans in a transcontinental 16-hour telecast that raised $70.5 million.

It was a compassionate year in history.

Oklahoma be proud! We have a National Champion and as we all know it's the OU Football Team. This year's Sooners started the season in first place and ended the season still on top with a victory over the undefeated Penn State Lions in the Orange Bowl. The season started on a 4 game winning streak and with several players out with injuries. This years season had some down moments for the team, but through it all we can say we're the National Champions.

On behalf of the Spirit Organizations of Will Rogers High School the Spirit Leaders would like to recognize and to express their gratitude to Bob Coppage for his outstanding support and effort. As alumni of Will Rogers, Bob constantly showed his loyalty as a member of the Booster Club by attending football, basketball games, and wrestling matches and by generously supporting the Spirit Leaders. Bob's efforts were greatly appreciated.

The Show of a Lifetime Reopens

Three-quarters of a century after its 1910 spectacular, the best known of comets returned. Through history, Halley's has been seen as a forerunner of disaster and defeat. But it was also the first celestial body to prove Isaac Newton's theory of gravitational pull.

On January 28, 1986 the Space Shuttle Challenger launched from Cape Canaveral, Florida at approximately 11:00 A.M. At 74 seconds after liftoff the Challenger blew apart high above the Atlantic while the crew's families and NASA officials watched in despair from the Cape.

A Source, at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, said the blast occured "unexpectedly and with absolutely no warning."

Communications with the shuttle broke off 74 seconds after launch, marking that as the moment of the explosions.

Mission Control reported that the shuttle just suddenly blew apart 10 miles high and 8 miles downrange of Cape Canaveral.

Col. John Shults said the debris from the shattered shuttle fell into the ocean in an area between 50 and 130 miles southeast of the launch site. He said the water there was 70 to 200 feet deep.

On board the Challenger was the first civilian to go up in a shuttle, Christa McAuliffe. Mrs. McAuliffe, 37, was a social studies teacher at Concord High School in Concord, New Hampshire.

She was chosen out of 11,146 teachers across the U.S. to go up in the Challenger.

McAuliffe's role, according to NASA publicity materials, was educational.

Live lessons from space were scheduled for the sixth day of the mission. They were to be carried by most PBS Stations. "The Ulimate Field Trip" was to have begun around 10:00 P.M. followed at 12:00 P.M. with a lesson on the past, present, and future of space explorations. Lesson plans for teachers developed by NASA, were to be distributed through NASA PBS stations and several educational organizations.

19 third-graders from Concord were at Cape Canaveral holding a banner which said "GO CHRISTA". Christa's son, Scott, 9, who was in the class, was with his father, Steven, sister, Caroline, 6, and other relatives in a viewing area nearby.

"The Future Doesn't Belong to the Fainthearted It Belongs to the Brave." —Ronald Reagan

The crew included McAuliffe and six NASA astronauts; Commander Francis R. Scobee, 46. This was his second space shuttle mission. Pilot Michael J. Smith, 40. This was his first mission. Judith Resnik, 36. This was her second mission. Ronald E. McNair, 35. His first flight was in 1984. Ellison S. Onizuka, 39. This was his second flight. Gregory B. Jarvis, 41.

Hard Work Many Thanks

Who said, "Only the few and the proud" applied only to the Marines? These deadlines are killers! Don't get us wrong, it wasn't all bad. If there were only two or three hours to do this in school, it wouldn't be so tough. If there's one class that will make you love Rogers, work hard and laugh harder—the LARIAT is the one. Yearbooks come into being after many people, not directly related to the staff, have cooperated one way or another. To those teachers, administrators, students and parents the staff expresses the utmost gratitude.
